Foreman Regiment Gets Training With New Cannon.

The following cable dispatch describes Miss Wilson's visit to the One Hundred and Twenty-second U. S. Field artillery, the old First cavalry, I. N. G., commanded by Col. Miss J. Foreman.

BY CAROLYN WILSON.
(Special Cable to Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, Aug. 25.—I have just come back from a visit to one of the newly arrived Illinois artillery units, made up almost exclusively of Chicagoans, so that it was like a home party, only there was nothing in the scenery to remind one of Chicago. The training camp where the boys are just completing their instructions in French guns is located about a mile above sea level. The gorgeous view and bracing air is a revelation to those used to our prairie flatness.

"My legs were so tired with climbing hills when I first came," said one runner to me, "that I used to stay in bed on Sunday rather than take a walk." The highest hill I ever climbed before was the slant up to the Illinois Central station at Randolph street.

Aided by Bracing Air.
You can imagine what this fine, bracing air does to the boys. There is not a single hospital case in the unit, and the mess sergeant and cooks are the most anxiously regarded men in camp. The colonel's frown is as nothing to the fear of a grouchy day on the part of the cooks.

I was wandering around the gun park near where the battery kitchen was giving forth the most appetizing smells, and the men were eating from heaped up dishes. They told you with a groan that on account of the wasted leaves of bread found in the garbage pile food had been cut down 20 per cent.

"Do you mean to say you could eat more than that?" I asked, pointing to the dish. "That's the easiest question I ever had to answer," he grinned. "I could do double that. Say, you don't know what their air does to you up here when you've been watering, currying, and harnessing horses for six or eight hours or shoveling shells into one of these hungry French seventy-fives. You could eat one of the horses."

Pleased with Their Mess.
I asked the men if their mess was good, and they all seemed perfectly satisfied.

They are usually only too anxious to tell all their troubles to an unofficial ear. Supplies come in every ten days. Battalion commanders oversee the menus which the mess sergeants have prepared. Then every few days they drop around to taste the food and see that it is being palatably prepared. It has been impressed on the cooks that their one most important duty to the regiment is not only to give the men good, sustaining food, but also to learn the best methods of camouflage for their kitchen, as they often are directly responsible for the lives of their comrades.

The colonel has had several contests and has given prizes for the best means of hiding kitchen smoke.

Quartered in Village.
The boys are not quartered in the post, which is about a mile away, but in a small village, and they are billeted mainly in barns. This is one of the reasons the colonel gives for the unusual health record of the regiment, for he says that hay, fresh air, good ventilation, and cleanliness of the barns is highly superior to the close, stuffy quarters of barracks.

There are several restaurants in the village and the boys use up most of their money trying new French dishes, mainly chosen by eye from the menu. This unit which has been doing such splendid work on the British front received citations a few days ago. Also they besieged me with questions about persons they knew had been in both offensive and defensive fighting—and there were many from Chicago. I was glad to give them up to date.

ALIEN FOE SHOOT FIVE YOUTHFUL APPLE SWIPERS

Other Boys Beaten by Farmer Caught in Cornfield.

Five youths of Norwood Park were wounded last night when Peter Bloethner, a farmer living near Park Ridge road and Harlem avenue, fired both barrels of a shotgun as they were knocking apples from a tree that hung over the roadway. Two of the victims are seriously wounded.

Bloethner is a German alien enemy, not registered. He has been in this country seven years and is a son-in-law of William Polpin, who owns the farm Bloethner lives on.

Bloethner was caught hidden in a corn field several hours after the attack. He confessed, the police say.

Other Boys Injured.
A few minutes previous to the shooting several younger boys were beaten so severely that two were left in a dazed condition. The victims say they were attacked by two men, but Bloethner denies having any companion.

A posse of angry citizens surrounded the house of Bloethner soon after the shooting. The house was empty and the posse searched the farmstead about. Threats of violence were heard, but cooler heads prevailed when Bloethner surrendered to detectives.

One Hit by 35 Shots.
The youths who were shot are: George Gindele, 20 years old, assistant station agent of the Chicago and Northwestern, of 6016 North Harlem avenue, Norwood park. He has fifteen birdshot in his face and neck and twenty in his chest, arms, and shoulders.

Leader Cook, 20 years old, of 3018 Newark avenue, Norwood Park, assistant paying teller of the Jefferson Park bank. He has seven birdshot in his back, three in his elbow, and one in the back of his neck.

John Gindele, youngest brother of George Gindele, and the son of Dr. George Gindele, a Norwood Park physician, was slightly wounded in the legs.

Clarence Christianson, shot in the legs.

Donald Anderson, shot in the legs.

Knocked Down with Gun.
Ralph Searies of 6255 Niagara avenue and Paul and Emil Johnson of 6219 Niagara avenue, and John Krueger, also of Norwood Park, were the boys beaten. Each is 13 years old. The boys declare the man believed to be Bloethner, knocked Krueger down and hit him with the butt of the shotgun. Paul Johnson also was knocked down.

The youths were on their way home from a ball game played between a nine from Norwood Park and one from Evanston for the benefit of the orphan children at the St. Hedwig orphanage, near Niles center. As they passed the apple tree, the limb of which projected over the road, one of the boys hit the limb with his bat.

Saw Two Men Rise from Bushes.
They heard a shout and turned and saw two men rise from behind some bushes. One held a shotgun. As they looked the man with the gun fired both barrels. Cook and the older Gindele boy went down, and the others ran. They say they saw a second man flourishing a revolver.

A passing motorist took the boys to Norwood Park. He saw the man with the shotgun run towards the house occupied by Bloethner. Another motorist reported to Chief of Police Van Dusen of Niles, who hurried to the scene.

A posse from Norwood Park had already surrounded the house. Bloethner, however, was not at home. The citizens, aided by other members of the ball team, who were armed with baseball bats, scattered through the fields. Meanwhile, Irving Park police arrived and joined in the search and aided in the capture.

May Be Disfigured.
Cook and the older Gindele boy were given first aid treatment by motorists. Both will recover, but Gindele may be disfigured for life. Both graduated last June from the Sherrin High school.

The attack on the Searies boy and his companion was similar to that on the older boys except that the assailant did not shoot. He and his companion leaped from behind the bushes, seized the boys by their collars, bumped their heads together, and knocked them down.

Police of the Sheffield avenue station, detective from the bureau, and officials of the Northwestern elevated railroad combined in an investigation of two bombs found on the platform at Center street yesterday. The bombs were pieces of gas pipe fitted with fuses. There was nothing to indicate whence they came.

TRAMPLE KAISER PICTURE IN WAR RIOT AT BERLIN?

BY GEORGE RENWICK.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.

(Copyright, 1918.)

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 25.—A remarkable demonstration is reported to have taken place in Berlin. A report was spread that the military authorities designed to raise the military age limit. This began trouble in the poorer quarters, particularly in the Moabit district.

The crowds, mostly women and old men, assembled in the streets and discussed the matter. Under the eye of the police, however, they melted away.

The people returned to their homes or went to the cafes, but at the latter place the pictures of the kaiser, crown prince, Hindenburg and Ludendorff were taken from the walls and thrown from the windows into the streets. For some minutes there was a rain of pictures of Germany's military great ones poured from Berlin's private and public houses.

Out of doors the people gave vent to their feelings by trampling the pictures under foot. Some who lingered rather too long at the business were arrested.

DIES WITH THREE CHILDREN, OF GAS

Father, Parted from Wife, Found with Youngsters in Home.

AN HOUR after Mrs. Emil Stech of 2110 Powell avenue asked the Shakespear avenue police to search for her three children last night, they were found dead by gas in the home of their father, who had been separated from the wife and living at 1707 North California avenue. Stech also was dead.

Mrs. Stech told Sgt. Brundage she was granted separate maintenance from her husband two years ago and that he attempted suicide at that time. By court order Stech had been permitted to visit the children, Elmer, 11 years old; Agnes, 9, and Walter, 7, each Sunday.

Takes Usual Walk.
It was the father's habit to take them walking and to buy them sweetmeats. Yesterday afternoon he called as usual at the home of Mrs. Stech's father, Charles Buchholz, at the Powell avenue address, and took the children for a walk. His failure to return after a suitable period caused Mrs. Stech to call the police.

An hour after she called there was a report from Mrs. Andrew Nelson of 1701 North California avenue that gas was escaping from a small building in the rear of her home where resided a bachelor.

Police men broke down the door and found Stech and his children dead.

Gives Reason in Letter.
Stech left several letters, among which was the following: "To the Police: My wife left me, taking all my furniture and children, Sept. 9, 1916, because I objected to her going to saloons and cabarets and her going to the home of my former neighbor, Herman Bessinger, 2430 North Artesian avenue, and since she left me I see her entering saloons with him. I love my children and wanted them, and could not see them raised in care of my wife, and so I die and take the children with me. I am committing no murder; it is my wife's and Herman's doing."

"P. S.—Tell Brother Gus, 5704 Berneice avenue, to take my children to the chapel at California and Palmer. Leave my body where it is, as I want to be buried from here. My wife lives at 2110 Powell avenue. I leave everything that belongs to me to my sister, Gussie. Don't let any one else take anything."

"EMIL STECH."

FIVE BOYS WITH DIPHTHERIA AT LARGE IN CITY

Five boys escaped about 9 o'clock last night from the Municipal Contagious hospital, Thirty-first street and California avenue. All have the diphtheria. They are clad only in their pajamas. At an early hour this morning they had not shown up at their homes nor had any trace of them been found. They escaped by crawling down a ladder left by carpenters working an addition to the hospital.

Their names and the addresses of their parents are:

Fred Bayley, 15, 6437 N. Clark-st. Nunzin Prete, 15, 612 S. May-st. Joseph Krajewski, 15, 1333 Walton-st. Tony Vitrolis, 15, 3638 S. Rockwell-st. Robert Taylor, 16, 2605 S. Wabash-av.

The children's escape was reported by Miss A. M. Clarke, night superintendent.

Sugar to Go Up a Cent, Is Latest Announcement

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—Prospects for a slightly higher price for sugar to the consumer in the near future were forecast by the food administration today in announcing that the sugar equalization board, in order to minimize inequalities between prices of the old and new crops, will purchase all sugar at the old price and resell to the holders at the new price. The increase to consumers, it has been said, will not amount to more than a cent.

FRENCH BEAT GERMAN BLOWS, NAB AUSTRIANS

Enemy Strikes Hard, Fearing Loss of 'Ladies' Road.'

PARIS, Aug. 25.—The French continued their progress east of Bagneux, between the Ailette and the Aisne, today, according to the war office announcement tonight. They repulsed counter attacks west of Crecy-au-Mont. Four hundred additional prisoners have been taken.

The Germans' counter blows were heavy. Field Marshal Hindenburg is striving to halt the advance of Gen. Mangin's army, which is menacing the German positions on the Chemin des Dames.

Austro-Hungarian reinforcements have arrived on the southeastern end of the western front, a number of soldiers from Austrian units having been captured by French patrols in the Woivre region.

French Command Main Roads.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—The first phase of the battle of the Aisne and Oise has put the French in solid possession of the entire south bank of the Oise west of the Ailette and also the Ailette river from the Oise to Font St. Medard.

The point near where it is crossed by the road from Chauny to Soissons, Gen. Mangin's men along the Ailette and farther south at Crecy-au-Mont, Pommiers, and Juvisy, command this important road all the way from Soissons to the Oise.

Cut Off Communications.

They also command the Laon railroad, which from the region of Coucy-le-Chateau northward, runs nearly parallel with that road.

The Germans are thus thrown back upon the hilly forest region of Coucy for communication between their troops operating on the Oise above the Ailette and their troops on the Aisne east of Soissons.

Both sides command the Oise with their artillery. French scouts reconnoitering the stream have found it so formidably defended by machine gun nests and by artillery behind in the hills all along from Noyon to Chauny that it will require considerable work by the heavy artillery to deal with the situation before a crossing in force is attempted.

Mangin's Prisoners Total 13,000.

On the right bank of the Ailette the Germans are resisting stoutly from a strong position along the edge of the forest of Coucy. Small parties of French have effected a crossing of the stream, but no serious effort has yet been made to establish a position on the opposite bank.

As the situation is today, Gen. Mangin has won an incontestable and substantial victory, of which there is plenty of material evidence on the field beside 13,000 prisoners and 300 cannon captured.

He set out first to drive the Germans from the plateau of the Ailette, then to the plateau of the Chemin des Dames, and Carlepont by a violent thrust northward, then by a quick facing off toward the east to drive them off the heights west of the Ailette, thus clearing the sole bank of the Oise and lending support to the third army's action in the hills of Thiesscourt.

German General Leaves Boots.

The program succeeded in every form and so rapidly that though the enemy may say that he retired unhindered, some of his staff officers were obliged to flee in scanty attire. A German general was seen running from one of the exits of a cavern at the top of Mount Choisy without boots or suspenders, just as French soldiers appeared at the other entrance.

The correspondent, who later visited that cavern, found it in other evidences of the hasty departure of the German divisional staff that occupied it. Along with the general's boots and suspenders there were costly field glasses.

In the piles of arms and ammunition that have been collected on and around the heights there are a considerable number of bayonets with the saw tooth blade.

Insult and Then Death Fate of Child of Cz

LONDON, Aug. 26.—A Russian prince who recently arrived in London confirms the rumors of the killing of Alexis, the son of the former emperor. After the father was executed the Bolshevik went to the son, saying: "We killed your father—a dog's death for a dog."

Alexis burst into tears and one of the band then shot him dead. The boy was 14 years old on July 30.

LATE NEWS BULLETINS

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—British troops are reported to have reached the outskirts of Suzanne, two miles east of Bray-sur-Somme, and to be near Cappy, slightly less than two miles southeast of Bray, on the south bank of the Somme. A heavy rain fell this evening.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 25.—Czechoslovak and anti-Bolshevik forces have recaptured the town of Kazan, on the river Volga, says a Moscow dispatch to the Weser Zeitung of Bremen. The Bolsheviks were forced to retreat after heavy fighting. The Bolsheviks now hold positions some distance from Kazan.

A Moscow telegram giving a statement issued on Aug. 21 says that the soviet troops had been forced to retire in the region of Trostjaka, in the direction of Kadisk, in the Pyahung district (south of Archangel), but had successes in the Kazan district.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 25.—Two hostile air squadrons attacked Constantinople today, says a Turkish official war report received today.

STREATOR MINER, FEIGNING DEAD, FOOLSHUN 10 DAYS

STREATOR, Aug. 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—A Streator miner, feigning death, fooled his captors for ten days.

Flanked by Machine Guns, Lands Behind German Line.

STREATOR, Aug. 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—A Streator miner, feigning death, fooled his captors for ten days.

Here Is His Story.

His story follows: "On the afternoon of the 11th of August my company started to take a hamlet near the Vesle, but was stopped at the railroad by machine guns on our flank. Returning, we fell behind and were forced to take shelter in a ditch, staying there three days, everything moving drawing machine gun fire.

"Finally I crawled into a German dugout, where on the night of the 18th Germans came and took most of my crackers, my rifle, and my mask. I feigned dead when they prodded me.

"The Boche party returned two nights later, after an hour and paying no attention to me. On the morning of the 20th I used my remaining strength to crawl out of the shell hole and thence to a railroad where the Americans started to fire, discovering me to be an American just in time.

"For the last four days I have been foodless, but had had water. I thought I could eat a side of beef when the Americans offered me food, but I found the limit a tiny bit of corned beef. I am eating lots now and soon will be restored."

Whis Bang Lands.

Clifton P. Phillips was in an outpost on Thursday with three companions when the Huns sent over a whisbang barrage. Afterwards a platoon of Germans approached behind shrubbery, opened with automatics, and seized the quartet. Phillips, with Private Pasquell, was sent back through forward posts in care of two Germans, one continually calling him a "swine," and brutally mistreating him. Phillips' pistol had been overlooked by the captor.

Finally he killed one German, the other fleeing after throwing a grenade between Phillips and Pasquell, who entered the wood under fire. They heard Germans retreating and eventually stumbled across a path where snipers were thick, but finally escaped. They were rescued by Corporal Westerlund and reentered in a shell hole until the fighting ended.

Phillips was indignant at the treatment of American prisoners. He charges he saw German shell stretchers with wounded.

Win 3 Towns in Center.

Australians captured the enemy's positions on the high ground east of Bray. British troops took Mamety, and Welshmen captured Mamety wood.

Martinpuich, Le Bars, and Le Barque were captured by troops in the center of the battle line. The fighting to the north of Bapaume was severe. Desperate engagements were waged in to part with the town, which has great strategic value.

Warwick, an important position just south of Bapaume, on the road to Albert, which has been widely crossed, was taken by the British after a bitter struggle, in which the Germans suffered very severe losses.

Great numbers of the enemy were captured during the day, among them a large party from the Third German naval division.

British Advance Rapid.

So fast was the British advance last night and today that it is impossible to be certain where the front line will be located from one hour to the next.

The Germans exhibit signs of cracking at some places, but are offering desperate resistance. Many more guns, some of large caliber, have been taken. One British corps alone has counted eighty guns.

Confusion Behind Foe's Lines. There is evidence of confusion in the enemy rear. Units of the same division hurried into the battle have been taken at points separated by many miles. Quantities of material are falling into British hands because the Boche has not troubled to apply the torch or explosives.

Positively, to the north of Albert, fell this morning. British patrols were seen entering Martinpuich, where apparently the Boche made good his escape.

Highwood, a strong position near Longueval (northwest of Comblès), is reported captured; while Enscourt L'Abbaye, Contalmaison, and Courcellette have been occupied by the British.

Flight Hard Around Mory. Sappers are completely in British hands after hard fighting. At last reports a local battle within the big battle was being fought at Mory and its environs, where the lines run through the town.

St. Leger was captured and left far behind. After having once been reported in Croisilles, the British withdrew to the outskirts. The German counter attack heavily and the British retired to the edge of the town and poured shells into the place, while pressing forward on the sides.

This practice of withdrawing from any place where heavy counter attacks are being delivered, then shelling the area and driving past to the north and south, eventually getting into a position somewhat to the rear, has given wonderful results, not only in saving British troops but in netting large numbers of German prisoners or killing Germans.

Armored Cars Far Ahead. At Neuville-Vitasse and almost up to the Scarpe the line at last reports, held at headquarters ran through the outskirts of the village, and severe fighting was in progress there.

The Bapaume-Peronne road was attacked by British tanks last night, which during the last twenty-four hours have been performing wonderful service, scouting far ahead of the infantry.

Some of them have dashed through the country, overrunning retreating enemy transport columns and inflicting terrible damage upon them and bodies of troops with their machine guns.

Cooperating with the armored cars, the tanks again have been heavily in action, some of them rolling right over the debris and finishing off enemy strong points in the face of a perfect deluge of fire.

Shot All Paint Off Tanks. Many tanks have returned to their lines with all the paint shot off by steel shells by machine gun bullets. At some points the Germans approached the tanks as soon as they saw them, with hands high above their heads, fearfully shouting "Kamerad!"

When Thiepval ridge fell into British hands yesterday the troops pressed forward at both sides and a large number of Germans were pinched. They promptly threw away their shrapnel helmets and other equipment, and, without even guards, walked toward the British rear. In the neighborhood of Thiepval a British detachment, during the early part of the advance, managed to reach Fys, but soon found itself surrounded on all sides by the enemy.

An airplane saw the detachment's plight and dropped a message, "Stick it," and soon after heavy British formations attacked at this point and drove off the Germans, relieving their hard pressed comrades.

Since then Fys has been left well behind. Positively, southeast of Thiepval, fell this morning, and later Mametz was occupied, as well as Martinpuich. There were no signs of the Boche around Martinpuich, although just to the south bitter fighting continues.

Fight in Shell Craters. Everywhere the Boche is taking advantage of shell craters, and these ready-made strong points have in many cases caused considerable trouble before being silenced.

The craters west of La Boisselle were especially troublesome. One large one there, after holding out for several hours, fell during the night, while other smaller holes were silenced at daybreak.

The worst of this shell crater country now is being passed at many points, however, and there is a prospect that the ground may be more favorable to the British.

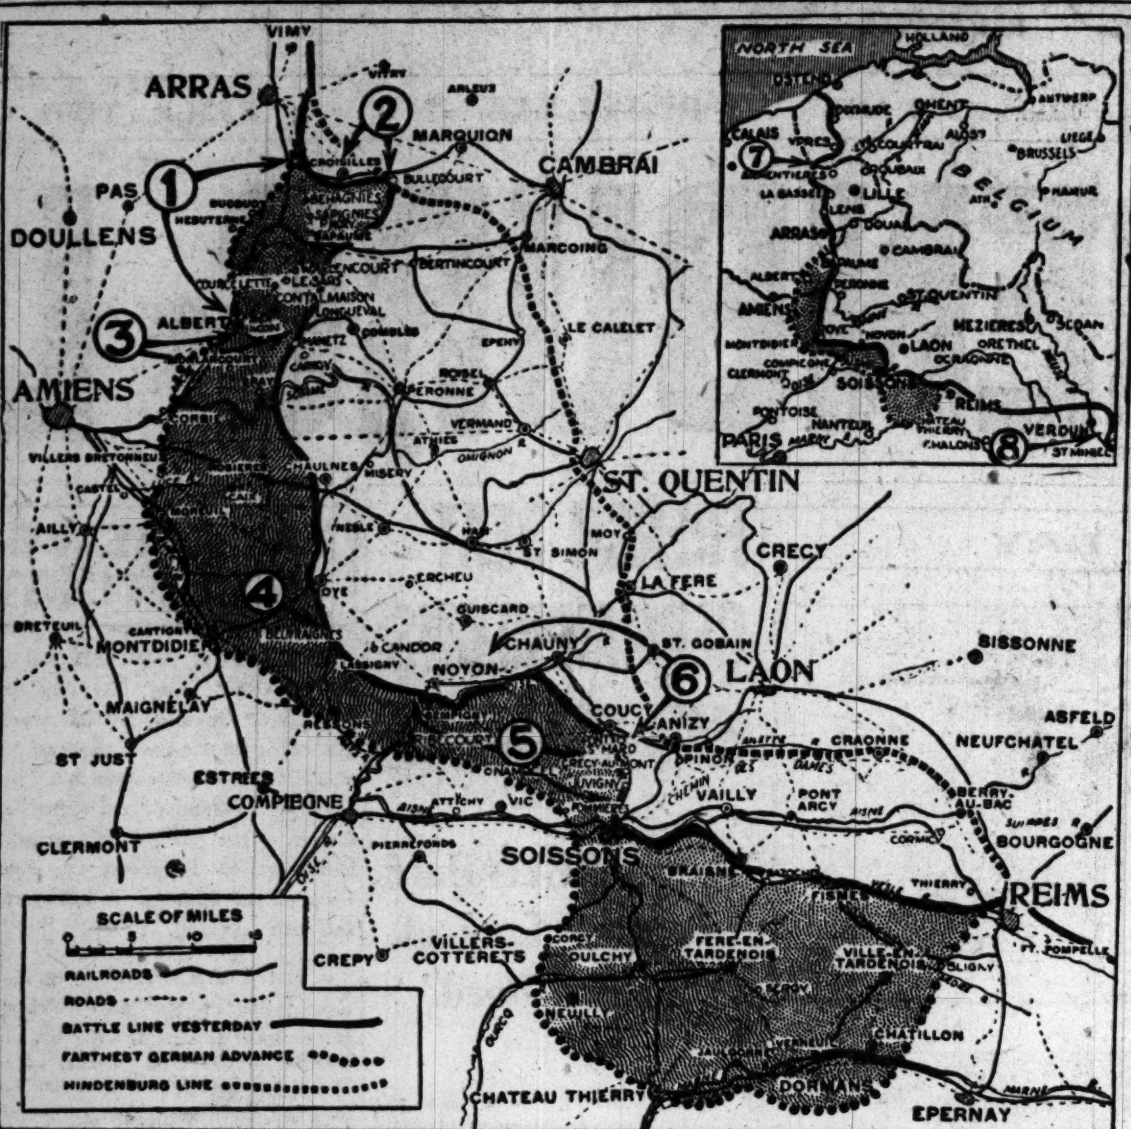

Saxons Ask for Bacha. At the same time it seems certain that the Germans have brought up large formations of fresh troops, but it is believed that up to the present these reinforcements are still some distance in the rear. It is problematical whether the German high command intends to throw them into the battle now or to use them to hold the line to which the enemy is now being driven.

Among the prisoners taken in today's and last night's fighting, which progressed under a brilliant moon, are many Saxons. The officers among these, in comparison with the Prussians, who apparently care not for such things, as soon as they got to the cages, stripped themselves and asked for water with which to bathe from their captured shrapnel helmets.

Capture Austrians. Forty-two German divisions have suffered considerable losses in the present British drive, losing 40,000 soldiers, including several hundred officers, in prisoners alone.

The capture of one officer and four

HOW THE ALLIES ARE BLASTING OUT KAISERISM

1. British reconnoitering troops have entered Bapaume. The Albert-Bapaume highway has been cleared of the enemy, who are falling back doggedly into lowlands to the east.

2. In a sudden smash, Field Marshal Haig drove a spear like wedge through the German lines to the north, capturing Bullecourt, which is seven miles northeast of Bapaume and on the old Hindenburg line. Severe fighting is going on in the neighborhood of Croisilles.

3. The British are closing in on Comblès, another center of German resistance, directly east of Albert. After taking the high wood, east of Albert, they drove on, taking Mametz and Longueval, in a pincer movement to force the evacuation of Comblès.

4. South of Roye the Germans attempted a raid on Beuvraignes, but it was repulsed with losses.

5. The French hold the entire south bank of the Oise and Ailette rivers. Their artillery fire has cut the southern railroads from Laon.

6. The Germans cannot move trains along the Ailette railroad, nor from Laon to the positions above Soissons on the Aisne.

7. The Germans are counter attacking heavily to prevent the French from cutting their positions in the Chemin des Dames.

8. A German counter attack along the Lys in Flanders was beaten off.

9. Austro-Hungarians have been identified among the Germans captured in the Woëvre district, near Marre, northwest of Verdun.

10. Details of American Raid.

AMERICAN FORCES ON THE LORRAINE FRONT, Aug. 23.—[By the Associated Press.]—American bombing airplanes yesterday dropped thirty-eight bombs on Comblès, a town on the Verdun-Metz railroad. Ten direct hits were obtained.

Three aerial combats were reported yesterday in the Woëvre region. Lieut. Jones attacked and apparently destroyed an altros biplane over Marre, northwest of Verdun. Lieut. Hugh Bridgman, while on a reconnaissance patrol, attacked two Fokkers, which disappeared, seemingly falling to the ground. Another airplane saw a German machine going downward in a steep sidslip after it had been fired upon by each pilot of the American patrol.

Interred Crew of Scorpion Treated Well by the Turk

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—The navy department announced today that information had been received from the Swedish legation at Constantinople, Turkey, that the officers and enlisted men of the U. S. S. Scorpion, interned there since April 11, 1917, are in good health and that the food supply is wholesome and abundant.

North of Bapaume severe fighting has taken place in Favereuil and about Mory and Croisilles. Progress has been made by our troops east of Beghagnies and in Neuville-Vitasse.

A counter attack delivered by the enemy against our new positions in the Giviechy sector was repulsed.

A statement issued earlier in the day by the war office said:

Our attack to the north of the Somme is continuing. Our troops hold the road from Albert to Bapaume as far as the outskirts of Le Sars, and have captured Contalmaison and Warlencourt-Enaucourt.

To the north of Bapaume we have taken Sapignies and Behagnies.

The number of prisoners taken by the Third and Fourth armies on the battle front since the morning of Aug. 21 and passed through the collecting stations now exceeds 17,000.

A counter attack attempted by the enemy early last night against our positions recently gained to the north of Baillou (in the Lys salient) broke down under our fire.

GERMAN REPORT

BERLIN, via London, Aug. 25.—The German war office statement says:

(The first section of the statement is missing.)

Enemy attacks were also shattered before Mory.

Enemy forces stormed many times against our front, extending after the battles of Aug. 23 from west of the Bohagnies-Bapaume-Warlencourt line. The attack was initiated by bringing in numerous tanks in the center against Bapaume itself. These attacks collapsed.

Lieut. Eberhard during the last few days has here destroyed eight armored vehicles.

The enemy pressed forward sharply against our lines, which had been taken back from the Ancre, and in the afternoon came from Courcelles and Pozieres to attack against Martinpuich and Bassin. Prussian troops thrust themselves in a counter attack upon the flank of the enemy and threw him back beyond Posieres.

From the Somme to the Oise fighting activity remained limited to artillery fire and minor infantry battles north of Roye and east of the Oise. On the Ailette the fighting activity died down.

Between the Ailette and the Aisne many strong attacks, which were brought forward in especially thick waves near and south of Chavigny, followed upon a heavy fire against Crecy-en-Mont and on both sides of Chavigny. They were repulsed with heavy losses for the French.

Our bombing squadrons during Saturday night dropped on harbor works, railway stations, military works, and camps of the enemy 75,000 kilograms of bombs.

YANKES' POUNDING HASTENING ENEMY'S FLIGHT TO OLD LINE

LONDON, Aug. 25, via Montreal.—A week of continuous allied success closed gloriously Saturday when the British stormed no fewer than fifteen important strongholds. A semi-official statement from Paris emphasizes that the whole interest Saturday centered on the British front, where gains of ground of the most important tactical value had been achieved.

"The significant part of the success is that the Americans west of Fismes and south of the Vesle have been lately assigned to the task of hammering the German communications in the region north of the Aisne district.

They have been steadily reinforced all the time, and if their present movement develops it is likely to have serious consequences for the Germans, whom Generals Mangin and Humbert are outflanking. While Gen. Ludendorff deems it prudent to retire from this region, his decision to withdraw to the 1917 line may be hastened by the Americans.

It goes hard with us if we are caught deserting," said one youth. "If it is ever found out that anybody deserts his family is punished and even his female relatives are sent to dig in the front line and other trenches."

One of the prisoners said he was carrying food to an advanced post when the British appeared. He cried, "We surrender," and he and the men in the post gave themselves up.

Prisoners taken when Miraumont fell, after a brave resistance by its garrison, said they had been fighting for three days without food.

ALSATIANS GLAD TO BE PRISONERS; CRY 'LIBERATED'

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Many Alsations were captured by the British in the drive around Bapaume. Happier men than these it would be hard to find anywhere. They fell on their captors, embraced them, and spoke in French of being "liberated." They pulled pictures of their fathers dressed in the French uniform of 1870 from hidden pockets and exhibited them proudly.

They said that all the Alsations had been placed in German regiments.

KARLSRUHE HIT AGAIN FROM SKY; 9 KILLED, 6 HURT

Germans Report Five Allied Planes Down; Air-drome Is Struck.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 24.—A telegram from Karlsruhe, Friday, to the Frankfurt Zeitung, a copy of which has been received here, says that ten British airmen bombed Karlsruhe at 9 o'clock that morning. Most of the bombs fell in the open country, resulting in considerable damage to private dwellings in one place. Nine persons were killed and six injured. Five of the attacking airplanes, according to the telegram, were destroyed.

Bomb Aldromes and Stations. LONDON, Aug. 25.—The following communication was issued this evening by the air ministry:

"On the 25th instant our machines successfully attacked a hostile air-drome and the railway stations at Barmen and Luxembourg. Excellent results were obtained on the railway stations."

French Flyers in Wide Attack. PARIS, Aug. 25.—An official report in regard to aerial activity says:

"During the night the weather improved and our bombing machines immediately took the air. Eighteen thousand four hundred kilos of explosives were behind the battle front on and on stations, which were damaged and bivouacs in the region of Ognolles and Guisard. Stations, railways, and assembly camps at Laon, Anizy-le-Chateau, Jussey, Chauny, La Fere, Ham, Semide, Pontavert, and Guignicourt were besprinkled with projectiles. Numerous hits were reported on the objectives and fires broke out at Laon, Ham, Guisard, and Guignicourt."

Details of American Raid. AMERICAN FORCES ON THE LORRAINE FRONT, Aug. 23.—[By the Associated Press.]—American bombing airplanes yesterday dropped thirty-eight bombs on Comblès, a town on the Verdun-Metz railroad. Ten direct hits were obtained.

Three aerial combats were reported yesterday in the Woëvre region. Lieut. Jones attacked and apparently destroyed an altros biplane over Marre, northwest of Verdun. Lieut. Hugh Bridgman, while on a reconnaissance patrol, attacked two Fokkers, which disappeared, seemingly falling to the ground.

Another airplane saw a German machine going downward in a steep sidslip after it had been fired upon by each pilot of the American patrol.

Interred Crew of Scorpion Treated Well by the Turk

Scorpion, interned there since April 11, 1917, are in good health and that the food supply is wholesome and abundant.

BATTLE STATEMENTS

UNITED STATES REPORT.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—Gen. Pershing's report covering today's operations was made public tonight by the war department, as follows:

HEADQUARTERS AMERICAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCES, Aug. 25.—Section A—In Alsace hostile raiding parties were again driven back in attempts to reach our lines. At other points occupied by our troops the day was uneventful.

An earlier report from Gen. Pershing, also made public tonight, said:

Section A—East of Basoches our troops slightly advanced their line. In the Vosges a hostile raid was repulsed with losses. From the other sectors held by our troops there is nothing to report.

FRENCH REPORT.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—The war office issued this statement tonight:

Both armies were active in the neighborhood of Lassigny today.

Between the Ailette and the Aisne we made new progress east of Bagnoux and repulsed enemy counter attacks west of Crecy-en-Mont. We captured 400 prisoners.

The report issued earlier in the day said:

North of Roye an enemy raid obtained no results other than to leave a score of prisoners in our hands. There was quite a violent bombardment in the region of Beuvraignes.

Between the Ailette and the Oise French troops continued their progress east of Bagnoux (northwest of Soissons).

On the right bank of the Meuse and in the Woëvre our patrols took prisoners, of which a number belonged to Austro-Hungarian units.

BRITISH REPORT.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Field Marshal Haig's report to the war office tonight says:

During the day the hostile opposition has increased with the arrival of German reinforcements on the battle front. Many hostile counter attacks have been made at different points, and have broken down with losses under our fire.

Our troops nevertheless have fought their way forward with great gallantry, and, overcoming the new enemy resistance, have made further progress and taken many prisoners.

On the north bank of the Somme Australian troops, by a successful attack launched early this morning, carried the enemy's position on the high ground east of Bray, while on their left London and east county divisions have continued their advance in the direction of Carney and have taken Mametz. Welsh troops have captured the Mametz wood.

In the center of our attack our troops have crossed the Albert-Bapaume road along its whole length south of Bapaume and have captured Martinpuich, Le Sars, and Le Barque.

North of Bapaume severe fighting has taken place in Favereuil and about Mory and Croisilles. Progress has been

REPORT GERMANS NOW RETREATING NORTH OF VESLE

Prisoners Say Hun Despairs and Will Quit to Avert Invasion.

BULLETIN.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—American troops on Saturday advanced their lines slightly east of Bazoches, while other American units in the Vosges inflicted heavy losses on the enemy in repulsing a raid, Gen. Pershing reported in his communique dated Aug. 24.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 25.—(By the Associated Press, 3 p. m.)—Reports from various sources say that the Germans are withdrawing north of the Vesle owing to continued pressure along the French and British fronts.

In the Fismes district the German artillery fired in a desultory fashion Sunday, and there was no infantry action except patrol engagements at a few places. Much heavy cannonading has been heard around Soissons.

The Americans are endeavoring to confirm the withdrawal reports. Prisoners taken yesterday by American troops in the region of Chateau du Thia, to the west of Fismes, said they had been ordered to keep in constant contact with the Americans along the Vesle river.

The German retreat north of the Vesle river had been carried out in an orderly manner, they declared, hence German soldiers believe it to have been premeditated and a tactical maneuver intended to eliminate an awkward situation.

No Longer Hope for Victory. The general impression among the German soldiers, the prisoners said, was now that so many powers had united against Germany, that it was not possible for Germany to win, yet the entire army would never be able to enter Germany, because the Germans had seen too much of the destruction in France to permit of Germany suffering in a similar manner.

The prisoners said Germany would be defended to the last man. If that did not suffice, an immediate peace must be sought. The Germans had fought with freshness and enthusiasm.

MOTIVE OF DEFENSE

BY EDWIN L. JAMES.
Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
(Copyright, 1918.)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY, 8 a. m. Aug. 25.—The Germans seemed somewhat of an inordinate desire to keep the Americans along the Vesle river occupied. For the last two days bitter local combats have been fought almost continuously along our line on both sides of the Fismes.

The Germans are not attacking heavily enough to drive the Americans back any appreciable amount, nor is there any reason to believe they wish a quick end to the fighting. The Vesle if they could. Their main idea seems to be to keep the Americans busy. The whole fifty hours of fighting has brought no change worth noting either way except that the Americans have made untenable a large tannery east of Bazoches, which commands a stretch of the Rouen to Reims road, which had been held by the Germans as a machine gun post, but is now in No Man's Land.

Use Best German Troops. When the Germans started the attack with two battalions Thursday they gained an insignificant advantage on the terrain, which they held until our troops counter attacked yesterday morning. The Germans were then thrown back the same distance they had gained. We placed our line on the left ahead of where it was before, while on the left the troops still are fighting to restore the former line.

Our artillery was very effective yesterday and last night, especially the heavies, which were sending big shells back beyond the Aisne. The German artillery fire was confined to small and medium sized guns and was not as intensive as in the last ten days, the fighting being done by crack Boche troops using machine guns and rifles. The Americans against them were engaging in their first real fight.

What the Germans Fear. I have said, the object of the Boche is not to drive the Americans back for any considerable distance, for the salient south of the Vesle along our front would be untenable even for the densest concentration of troops. I believe the reason for his action is not hard to find. To the north of Soissons Gen. Mangin's army is swinging eastward rapidly and forming a line running almost at right angles with the Vesle front and running across the western end of the plateau between the Vesle and the Aisne on which the Boche now has his position of resistance.

Back of the Aisne he has another position on a plateau a ridge north of the stream and back of that is the famous Chemin des Dames position. Seeks to Save Chemin des Dames. Now Gen. Mangin's advance threatens not only the Vesle plateau, but not only the Aisne plateau, but it threatens the Chemin des Dames position, the chief strategic value of which lies in its ability to resist a frontal attack. If Gen. Mangin gets where Chemin des Dames could be reached—well, perhaps that is what the Germans are worried about. Now the German's favorite way of guarding his withdrawal is by strong rear engagements by his crack troops. This was done against the Americans north of the Ourcq river. If the Germans can keep the Americans busy they may believe they can thwart

WAR DECIDED BY RECENT VICTORIES, CLEMENCEAU SAYS

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Premier Clemenceau telegraphed the presidents of the general councils today that they could rely upon the government and Marshal Foch and his magnificent staff and the allied military commanders to turn the present success of the allied arms into a complete and decisive collapse of the enemy.

"The splendid victories of recent weeks," M. Clemenceau said, "in which the spirit of our allies has so magnificently rivaled ours, has definitely settled the fortune of war. The enemy, bewildered, deceiving himself as to his own strength, now is finding out to his own detriment."

"The results achieved are the first fruits of our harvest of rewards, the highest of which will be having delivered the world from ruthless oppression and brutality."

"We hail the dawn the first gleams of which brightened the victorious brows of the founders of the American republic and of the fathers of our revolution. The last obstacle to the establishment of right among men is about to disappear. The triumph is near."

"Universal co-operation toward the world's rejuvenation will attain the ideal goal for which so many generations have been striving."

any proposed attack which they might think the Americans plan, thereby protecting a withdrawal between the Vesle and Aisne.

The fact that big guns have been sending no shells into the Americans' back areas for two days indicates that they are being taken farther back. It would be no surprise if within the next week the Boche was found to have slipped his main line of resistance back of the Aisne, if not even farther north. The Americans and the French are able now to drive him back at a certain price, but the terrain between the Vesle and the Aisne may be gained by reason of allied success to the west without the expenditure of man power along the Vesle.

10,000 CHICAGO SLOVAKS ATTEST LOYALTY TO U.S.

Compatriots in White City Program Speak Their Devotion.

While the Czech-Slovak army is proving its devotion to the cause of the allies in Russia and Siberia, the Slovaks of Chicago are testifying their devotion to the American nation. This was apparent yesterday afternoon, when 10,000 Chicago Slovaks gathered at the White City in a tremendous war meeting under the auspices of the Slovak section of the Yvonne language division of the Liberty Loan. "Throughout the afternoon it gave loud and repeated tongue to the loyalty and enthusiasm of the Slovaks in America."

An ambitious program, pictures in the exhibition of men and women in native costumes, and gay with the songs and dances of their land, through which were interspersed band numbers by three bands, one of Jackies, another of soldiers, and a third a Slovak organization, was presented.

Adj. Gen. F. S. Dickson was scheduled for the principal address, but was prevented from coming. In his place Capt. Frank B. Wendling of his department spoke.

Wear Native Costumes. The program opened with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the audience. An address of welcome was delivered in English by Dr. Samuel Lohner, following which three pretty maids, the Misses Dorothe and Betty Schubert, whose brother was wounded while fighting in France with the marines, and Miss Annette Petras, sang native songs in costumes representing, respectively, Croatia, Serbia, and Slovenia. Czech-Slovak folk songs were sung by the Bohemian Workmen's Singing society, Mrs. Slavka Svoboda sang a Bohemian song, the audience sang the Slovak national hymn, and young women in costume danced the Slovak national dance, under the direction of Misses Z. Kro and Emilia Kucera. Col. Vladimir Hurbec delivered a patriotic address in Slovak and the program ended with the singing of "America."

VALOR DECORATIONS GIVEN 55 YANKS OF ONE DIVISION

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Fifty-five officers, noncommissioned officers and men of a certain American division were awarded the Legion of Honor, the military medal, the war cross, or distinguished service cross this morning at the most brilliant decoration ceremony the American army has held in France. Similar decorations have been awarded seventy-two others, who were unable to be present owing to the fact that they are in a hospital. Most of the awards have been made for gallant conduct in the Marne battle. The decorations and medals were personally pinned on the Americans by Gen. Pershing, who was accompanied by a large group of American, French, and British staff officers.

draping over the outdoor stage of an immense service flag with 1,012 stars and ten gold stars, emblematic of the patriotic fervor of the loyal Slovaks.

During the exercises a band of young girls, under the direction of Anton Cermak, went through the audience selling buttons for the benefit of the Tishvins soldiers and sailors' smokes fund.

The chairman of the gathering was John Kubicek, and associated with him were W. K. Pfau of the foreign language division of the loan and the Rev. O. K. Vanicek, vice chairman; Anton drew Schuttek, treasurer, and Florian Tykka, secretary of the Slovak branch.

CHURCHES WIN PRAISE FROM GEN. PERSHING

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—"In the name of the American army in France, as well as in my own, I thank you for your kind and stimulating message," said Gen. John J. Pershing, the American commander in chief, in replying today to a message from the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. "It is the consciousness that the soldier has behind him of an undivided nation," Gen. Pershing continued, "which enables him, whatever his rank, to face his task with courage. After all, it is a common fight—yours there and ours here. What is necessary for the manhood of the soldier is necessary for the manhood of citizens. The invisible, unconquerable force let loose by the prayers, hopes, and ideals of Christian America, of which you are the representative, is incalculable."

Foe Resistance Losing Hope, Is View in Rome

ROME, Aug. 25.—"American intervention in France, which is daily growing more imposing, begins to frighten the enemy," says the Tribune, commenting on the victorious advance of the allies on the western front.

It adds that the Germans, confronted with the "formidable unknown quantity of the American forces, have recourse to a prudent system of retirement with the excuse that they wish to shorten their front."

This, it says, will not deceive anybody, not even the Germans at home, who understand that their resistance is becoming gradually hopeless.

ACT OF PIRACY SANK LUSITANIA, COURT DECIDES

Judge Julius Mayer Finds Boat Unarmed, Brave Crew Alert.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Judge Julius M. Mayer of the United States district court has issued a decision, made public today, in which he declares the sinking of the Lusitania was "the act, not of a civilized warrior but of a pirate."

The opinion says that an inquiry which extended more than a year proved conclusively that the Lusitania "was not and never had been armed," and that it did not carry explosives on the voyage on which it was sunk.

Another point which was made much of by German officials was answered by Judge Mayer when he declared that the crew of the Lusitania took every precaution to safeguard the passengers both before and after the torpedo struck.

He said the warning advertisements published by the German embassy in New York newspapers on May 1, the day the Lusitania sailed, did not require the captain and his company to yield to an attempt of the German government to terrify British shipping.

The decision dismissed the suits against the Cunard line aggregating nearly $4,000,000, brought by heirs of persons who perished with the Lusitania on May 7, 1915.

Destroyed by Pirates. The Cunard line came into court and asked for limitations of liability under the admiralty laws of the United States, contending that it should not be adjudged liable for the loss of life and property or injury to passengers for the reason that the Lusitania was destroyed by a common enemy or pirate.

This petition the court grants and Judge Mayer's decision means that the act of May 7 will go down in law history as the act not of a civilized warrior, but of a pirate.

"The cause of the sinking of the Lusitania was the illegal act of the Imperial German government, acting through its instrument, the submarine commander," declared Judge Mayer, who held that "the fault, therefore, must be laid upon those who are responsible for the sinking of the vessel in the legal as well as moral sense."

Reparation from Germany. Further in his decision the court asserted that "it is not to be doubted that the United States of America and her allies will well remember the rights of those affected by the sinking of the Lusitania, and when the time shall come will see to it that reparation shall be made for one of the most indefensible acts of modern times."

In regard to the advertisements which the German agents caused to be placed in eastern papers warning Americans not to sail on the Lusitania, the court says:

"Capt. Turner, the master of the vessel, saw the advertisement before sailing and realized that the Lusitania was included in the warning."

"It is perfectly plain that the master was fully justified in sailing on the appointed day from a neutral port with many neutral and noncombatant passengers, unless he and his company were willing to yield to the attempt of the German government to terrify British shipping."

GERMAN PAPERS SEE SPAIN EDGE TOWARD ALLIES

U-Boat Protest Called "Unfriendly Act"; Loan to U. S.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—German newspapers received in Denmark affirm that the situation between Spain and Germany is critical, but they agree that Germany cannot make any concessions with regard to her submarine warfare, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Copenhagen.

The Tageliche Rundschau admits the beginning of a conflict which may affect the position of both Mexico and Argentina.

"The complaints of Spain mean an admission in favor of the entente powers," says this newspaper, "and Spain's threat means a step away from the path of neutrality desired by the Spanish people. The Spanish note must be considered by the German people as an unfriendly act."

The Lokal Anzeiger declares that Spain must acknowledge the conditions which compelled Germany to resort to her submarine warfare.

LOAN TO U. S. PLAN. MADRID, Aug. 25.—El Liberal today announced that negotiations were proceeding for a commercial loan between Spain and the United States.

"Spain," the newspaper declared, "is opening a credit of 100,000,000 or 500,000,000 pesetas, the United States giving as a guarantee the signatures of American firms exporting cotton to Spain. With this credit the United States will be able to purchase in Spain some of the products necessary for its army in France, without the necessity of changing dollars into pesetas and thus avoiding the reduction in exchange."

"Ambassador Willard and other American officials have had several interviews with the members of the Spanish government and it is believed that the basis of an agreement has been reached. The interest payable on the loan has been the subject of discussion, the United States offering to pay 5 per cent. America offers to pay the balance remaining of the loan in Mexican gold on the day of liquidation."

HUNGARY JEWS
HAULED TO JAIL;
MONEY TAKEN

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 25.—Jews for some time past have been rounded up by orders of the government in various parts of Hungary, according to a Budapest report to the Jewish Correspondence bureau.

Streets were barricaded and Jews dragged to prison. These measures especially were directed against the Jews in Galicia, from whom large sums of money were taken by the police as a special tax, after which they were escorted to the frontiers.

In a recent debate in the Hungarian parliament Premier Wekerle attempted to justify the measures.

Pleads for Modification of Saluting Order in Paris

(SPECIAL CABLE TO CHICAGO TRIBUNE.)

PARIS, Aug. 25.—A writer in Esprit is pleading for a modification, in Paris at least, of the regulations regarding salutes. He made a test walk about a mile along the boulevards and found that soldiers would have had to salute 114 times in 27 minutes, or one every 15 seconds.

PRESS CALLS ON SHIVERING HUNS FOR MORE NERVE

"Now a Life and Death Struggle," Shouts Cologne Paper.

BY GEORGE RENWICK.
Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
(Copyright, 1918.)

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 25.—"It is now a life and death struggle. Not for matters such as Belgium and Alsace-Lorraine are we fighting. We must recognize it is our all which is at stake," so shouts the Cologne Volks Zeitung in calling upon the German people to show themselves possessed of Hindenburg's nerve. It rails against the defeatism, declaring "we shall soon settle scores with the foreign foe, if the enemy at home does not stab us in the back."

The same journal regards the fighting which now proceeds as a battle for the German fortress, and laments that, unlike the entente, Germany has to stand alone. She has no help coming to her.

Respect for Foch. Other papers express themselves in a similar strain and shout loudly for strong nerves during the great double battle. Ex-Col. Gaeckle in the Vorwaerts declares it cannot be denied Foch has known how to make excellent use of time, place, and of the element of surprise. He is a shrewd commander, with a genius for decision. This critic pleads for action on other fronts, such as in Palestine, with an eye to peace conditions.

Still Camouflaging Defeat. The Vossische Zeitung correspondent devotes the greater part of a column to a description of the fine triumph on the Roye-Liancourt road, where German infantry "remained victorious everywhere." He has a sorry anti-climax in his statement that more than 100 prisoners and some machine guns remained with them as signs of victory. Strategically the great battle has long ago been decided against Foch, one paper declares.

ALLIES REASSURE RUSSIANS OF LANDING AIMS

Archangel Force Merely to Expel Germans from the Country.

Archangel, Russia, Aug. 25.—[Delayed.]—(By the Associated Press.)—An official announcement issued today by the entente allied governments in the northern region of Russia denied the statement recently made by Lenin and Trotsky, the Bolshevik premier and war minister, respectively, that Great Britain, France, and the United States were enemies of Russia.

The allied military action, the announcement added, was aimed at the expulsion of the Germans from Russian territory and the suppression by force of arms of the Brest-Litovsk treaty.

Statement by Entente.

The statement follows: "The entente allied governments declare that the British, French, and American governments are not enemies of Russia, but that they call upon the Russian people to fight against them as enemies of Russia who attacked her without a declaration of war."

"We declare to all Russian citizens, for whom the welfare of Russia is dear, that this is not true. The British, French, and American governments are the allies of Russia. They were invited to make a landing here by the legitimate government and with the complete and unanimous agreement on the part of the population."

By Constituent Assembly.

"The government of the northern region is composed of members of the constituent assembly which was elected by the whole population of the northern border district. It comprises also representatives of the zemstvos and municipalities elected by universal suffrage."

"This government had been formed and was overturned by the illegitimate Bolshevik government before the descent of the allies. It was formed on the initiative of the league for the regeneration of Russia, which reunites representatives of all the political parties, recognizing the constituent assembly as the only rightful Russian authority."

"The allies then were called to Russia by the only legitimate and representative authority, for the purpose of military action in connection with the complete suppression of the German and the complete suppression by force of arms of the Brest-Litovsk treaty, unilaterally signed by the Bolsheviks. But they were called on the distinctly specified condition that they must not mix themselves in the internal affairs of the government of Russia."

Trotsky Again Cries 'Lies.'

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Bolshevik minister of war and marine, in a proclamation published in the Krasnaya Gazeta, on Aug. 23, characterized the statements that the allied troops were landed in Siberia to protect the trans-Siberian railway as a lie, according to a dispatch received here from Berlin.

"According to the American statement," the proclamation is quoted, "the object of the intervention of the allies is to help the Czech-Slovaks against risings of German and Austrian prisoners of war. This is a lie, just as was the Japanese statement regarding the menace to the Siberian railway by the Germans."

REVEAL WRITER AS ENEMY TOOL TO LULL U. S.

New York, Aug. 25.—Germany conducted a "subtle propaganda" in 1917 to check American preparation for war by leading the public to believe that the German people were about to overthrow Kaiserism. Alfred L. Becker, deputy state attorney general, asserted tonight in making public the results of his examination of George T. O'Dell, correspondent of the New York Evening Mail, who went to Germany with Ambassador von Bernstorff after the breaking of diplomatic relations.

According to Mr. Becker, O'Dell was granted interviews with reputed leaders of German thought, and was encouraged to send back articles designed to persuade America, by what would appear the testimony of an unprejudiced observer, that the German masses were about to rise against their masters and that the war could be won by political measures without force of arms.

O'Dell, Mr. Becker says, got much of his information from Dr. Rodiger, professor in the German foreign office; Prof. Gaevert of Freiburg university; Dr. Koertis of Heidelberg, and other "alleged leaders of thought," including representatives of the so-called liberal party.

news, for Ed met one officer only two days previously. He had told me what wonderful luck his battery had had in losing only one man killed and fifteen wounded out of all that fighting.

"This cheered the untired regiment immeasurably, and they decided to try to beat even those figures. They were wildly enthusiastic about French guns and French gunnery and still were talking about a night barrage they had about a week ago which they declare so have been better than any Fourth of July celebration within memory. The day I arrived they were winding up their preliminary training.

Like Work at Night.

They had a tremendous brigade barrage, but it didn't interest them like the night one, when they had gas attacks, air raids, and every known complication of the present warfare.

One of them said to me:

"It's a funny thing how soon you can get used to this sort of life and noise. All the night of our big attack the man lay right down beside the cannon and went to sleep as soon as they were relieved. We had been on for twenty-four hours at a stretch. We had a gas attack of an hour and thirty-five minutes because one man forgot to call them all out. One of the funniest things was when the chief of my section went to sleep expecting to be waked up for the 3:15 firing, but we let him sleep. When it was all over we kicked him a bit. Before he opened his eyes even he was on his feet with a shell in his hands and he jammed it in before any of us could say boo. And we had another fellow who walked in his sleep. Every time before I fired I had to look out to see that he wasn't standing right in front of the muzzle."

Keep Gas Masks On.

Men have their gas masks near all the time at night. When they are in the field they also wear their helmets. I had discovered this in my trip up to camp, for just as we approached the colonel's observation post Koster, the colonel's chauffeur, had suddenly turned to the young lieutenant who had come down from Paris to be attached to the regiment and said to him, with that perfect nonchalance which distinguishes our American soldier:

"Say, slip me that tin helmet from under the raincoat there so the old man won't catch me without it. He would skin me alive."

One of them said to me:

"It's a funny thing how soon you can get used to this sort of life and noise. All the night of our big attack the man lay right down beside the cannon and went to sleep as soon as they were relieved. We had been on for twenty-four hours at a stretch. We had a gas attack of an hour and thirty-five minutes because one man forgot to call them all out. One of the funniest things was when the chief of my section went to sleep expecting to be waked up for the 3:15 firing, but we let him sleep. When it was all over we kicked him a bit. Before he opened his eyes even he was on his feet with a shell in his hands and he jammed it in before any of us could say boo. And we had another fellow who walked in his sleep. Every time before I fired I had to look out to see that he wasn't standing right in front of the muzzle."

Keep Gas Masks On.

Men have their gas masks near all the time at night. When they are in the field they also wear their helmets. I had discovered this in my trip up to camp, for just as we approached the colonel's observation post Koster, the colonel's chauffeur, had suddenly turned to the young lieutenant who had come down from Paris to be attached to the regiment and said to him, with that perfect nonchalance which distinguishes our American soldier:

"Say, slip me that tin helmet from under the raincoat there so the old man won't catch me without it. He would skin me alive."

news, for Ed met one officer only two days previously. He had told me what wonderful luck his battery had had in losing only one man killed and fifteen wounded out of all that fighting.

"This cheered the untired regiment immeasurably, and they decided to try to beat even those figures. They were wildly enthusiastic about French guns and French gunnery and still were talking about a night barrage they had about a week ago which they declare so have been better than any Fourth of July celebration within memory. The day I arrived they were winding up their preliminary training.

Like Work at Night.

They had a tremendous brigade barrage, but it didn't interest them like the night one, when they had gas attacks, air raids, and every known complication of the present warfare.

One of them said to me:

FOUR DEAD, FOUR WOUNDED, CITY'S LOSS IN BATTLE

Casualty List Also Reports Two as Missing in Action.

Names of eight Chicago sons who were contained in the official casualty list issued last night. Three died of wounds, three were wounded severely, and two were missing in action.

Relatives notified The Tribune of two other casualties—Private Frank Blaul, 1936 Wolfram street, died of wounds; Private Herbert O'Toole, 154 West Garfield boulevard, wounded severely.

Private Blaul was 23 years old and a member of Company B, One Hundred and Sixty-eighth Infantry. He enlisted April 15, 1917. He was formerly an employe of the Chicago Telephone company. His mother, Mrs. Mary Blaul, a widow, has another son, George, who is training as a gunsmith at the Harrison technical training detachment, Twenty-fourth street and Kedzie avenue.

Government Notifies Wife. Private O'Toole is a member of Company A, One Hundred and Thirty-first Infantry, formerly the First Infantry, Illinois national guard. His wife received official notification yesterday from the war department. The telegram read that he had been wounded severely and disclosed no details.

Corporal Lawrence Wolfe, died of wounds, who heads the official casualty list of yesterday, lived at 3003 Elm avenue, Zion City. His mother had previously notified The Tribune of his death and a biography and photo were published in the issue of Wednesday, Aug. 21.

Private Frank S. Witowski, died of wounds, was 30 years old and a member of Company A, Three Hundred and Fifty-fifth Infantry. He formerly was employed in a bakery at 1710 West Forty-eighth street. His mother, Mrs. Mary Witowski, a widow, lives at 4514 South Lincoln street. His brother, Felix, is with Company C, Thirty-sixth Engineers, in France.

Joined Colors in March. Private Charles Zedig, died of wounds, was also a member of Company A, Three Hundred and Fifty-fifth Infantry. He joined the colors March 1917. He was formerly an employe of Wilson & Co., packers. His parents, Joseph and Hanna Zedig, live at 411 Center street.

Private Vincent Lodi, wounded severely, is a member of Company L, Twenty-eighth Infantry. This is the second time he has been wounded in action. He enlisted May 28, 1917. He was formerly an employe of the Santa Fe railroad. His parents, Aurelio and Maria Lodi, live at 1507 South Paulding avenue.

Private Charles A. Orlich, wounded severely, is a member of Company D, Twenty-eighth Infantry. He was formerly an employe of the Lake View Brick company. His parents, Carl and Lena Orlich, live at 2027 Melrose street. They have another son, George, in France with Company A, Thirty-second Infantry.

Two Missing in Action. Private Samuel Rothbart, wounded severely, is a member of Company P, One Hundred and Thirty-first Infantry. He joined the colors in September, 1917. He was formerly an employe of Sears, Roebuck & Co. His parents, Morris and Rebecca Rothbart, live at 1139 South Western avenue.

Private Herman Anderson, missing in action, is a member of Company G, Eighteenth Infantry. He was formerly a motorman with the Chicago Surface Lines. His widowed mother, Mrs. Sophia Johnson, and two sisters live in Sweden. Herman changed his name to Anderson when he came to America.

Private James E. Patterson, missing in action, was listed as having lived at 1311 Fletcher street, but there is no such number in that street and no one could be found in the neighborhood who knew Patterson.

DARKY SOLDIER BRINGS HIS CAMP MEETING ALONG

Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., Aug. 25. —[Special.]—"O, Lord, forgive me, pray, the captain of this company's his grievous sins. Soften his heart, and bring him to walk with Thee in all his days."

A youthful captain of infantry, guiding a party of friends through the great training fields of the One Hundred and Sixty-first depot brigade this afternoon stopped abruptly, put up his hand to hide a smile, and guided his party in a hasty retreat while the singing voice of the tall Negro soldier leading one of a dozen open air prayer meetings in the area went steadily on imploring the light to be lifted for the erring white man.

These open air religious gatherings, typical of the old southern camp meetings, took the attention of every colored soldier in camp, following the examination of 3,000 colored troops, newly arrived from Camp Custer.

Announcement was made at camp headquarters today that Col. C. B. Hagdon has been assigned as commander of the new central officers' training camp to open in September.

John Skoger, a recruit of the One Hundred and Sixty-first depot brigade, killed himself with a razor.

The name of the man was as German as Potomac.

'MID FIELDS AND HERDS AT ROCK RIVER FARMS

Rich Crops and Patriotic Neighbors for Candidate McCormick.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.
On the Byron Bluffs, Ill.—In the high blue sky a military aeroplane is cavorting. The stars in their circles of red, white and blue on the under side of the plane's wings dive like comets, climb like shooting rockets, go crazy with the heat and cut all sorts of aerial capers. Young Gardner from the army air camp at Rantoul is driving the air chariot. Gardner is an Ogle county boy from Rochelle and he is showing the home folks at the Ogle county fair some of the tricks he will later practice on the Hun.

Out on the dusty half mile track four hobbled pacers are brushing down the home stretch in the 2:14 and a fraction. One of the spectators is Mr. Justice Cartwright of the state supreme court, whose reputation as a pundit of the law is fairly rivaled by his renown as a breeder and owner of fast harness horses.

Typical County Fair. Several thousand folks are wandering about the fair grounds, under the oak and hickories. In one tent responses "The Great Backtrachian, Relating to the Frog Family," with a colored Barker ballyhooing in front. The sign over another canvas announces the "Grand Athletic Carnival. We Meet All Comers." The congress, itself attired in lights and a red bath robe, poses its impressive figure at the entrance.

Most of the women are looking at the poultry, the calves and the exhibits of needlework and preserves. All the kids are eating ice cream cones. All the men are talking politics.

In one group, sitting about a farm tractor, is Medill McCormick, candidate for United States senator. It is a typical red hot, midwestern August afternoon. The men are in their shirt sleeves. It seems the last place in the world for anything dramatic and poignant to happen.

A Son and a Check for U. S. A tall, heavily built, man, his hair beginning to turn gray, stepped up to McCormick and put something into his hand. "Use that in your campaign," Then he turned away. It was a check. McCormick sprang after the man. "What's the idea?"

It was plain that the man was laboring under an emotional strain. His face was set in hard lines. "Yesterday we received word that my son had been killed in France," he said. "He was in the regular army. My daughter and I have talked it over. We want to help you keep up the fight for the cause for which my son gave his life."

The name of the man was as German as Potomac.

I rode down to Rock River Farms yesterday afternoon. Mrs. McCormick was absent, having been called east by the illness of her mother. The candidate himself had not yet returned from a campaigning trip. Mrs. Hulse, wife of the farm manager, a pretty and attractive young woman, showed me through the big dairy barns, where nearly 100 head of thoroughbred Holstein and Guernsey cows were being milking. In the smaller barn, with some forty cows in the stanchions, all the work is being done by five young women of the woman's land army. They wore boots and white overall suits. They were too busy milking to waste time looking at visitors.

"They milk at 4 o'clock every morning," said Mrs. Hulse, "and again at 4 in the afternoon. Between 10 o'clock and the afternoon milking hour they rest and amuse themselves."

"That doesn't sound as much like a joke as I thought," was my comment. Mrs. Hulse smiled with the superior wisdom of one who knows what her sex can do when it is in earnest. "The girls only came out here to spend their vacations," she said, "but last week they held a meeting and decided to stay on with us all winter. They are determined to do their bit. We're mighty glad they're going to stay, for we find them good workmen."

Greeting "Daddy." It was growing dusk when the chug of a motor car was heard coming in over the winding road through the oak and hickory woods to the bungalow, which stands at the edge of the bluff, looking down and out over the wide, winding river. Two thrill young voices greeted it with cries of "Daddy!" McCormick leaned out from the front seat and picked up in his arms his small son, John, aged 2 years.

Come here, you homely little divil, he said.

It is the universal and smiling opinion of everybody who has seen small John that he is the exact and living miniature likeness of his father.

Mrs. McCormick, owing to all of 6 years, and looking very demure and pretty in her blue denim jumpers, is less demonstrative in her greeting.

"She takes after her mother," says McCormick with a grin. He had been out to make a campaign speech at the Old Settlers' picnic of Carroll county, a forty mile run across the rolling country of northwestern Illinois.

"Tired?" "Not very. It was a great audience this afternoon. Six or seven hundred people, most of them dairy farmers, I saw by way of learning to be a dairy farmer myself."

Developing a Dairy Country. "It must be an expensive amusement," I said. It was a mean remark. Those big barns, housing the big white and black cows, the cooling and bottling plant, with all their provisions for getting the milk into bottles as clean and pure as possible, hadn't looked at all like an amusement. But they did look expensive. I wanted to find out.

"This plant is not an amusement and it is already paying its way," said McCormick, his face serious. "The future of this valley lies in its development as a dairy country. We have got the foundation stock for a great herd of dairy cattle. My wife and I belong to the local grange and all of its members are agreed that the first thing we must all do is to get rid of the cows that don't produce enough to pay for their board."

A Long Distance Proposition. "And we've all got to study the problem of marketing our milk to the best advantage. In our case we are selling all we can produce as certified milk in Chicago—nearly 1,000 quarts a day. Mrs. McCormick and Mr. Hulse, the farm superintendent, have worked out the details of the plan. I'm glad to say they are already paying their way. I'd be ashamed to own a farm that wasn't self-supporting. Of course, farming is a long distance proposition and we don't expect to get running in full swing in less than five years. And the war interferes, of course, with working out our plans. But with the help of the girls from the woman's land army and of several boys from the working reserve of the state we are getting along better than I hoped for."

The candidate went indoors to work on a campaign speech. I looked over the magazines and books which littered the tables on the wide porch. There were a lot of reviews, American and foreign, some of them in French. And most of the books seemed heavier

SHRAPNEL

Forty-five boys of the Eighteenth draft district will receive a big "send-off" tonight at the South Shore theater. They are to depart on Wednesday for South Carolina. They will hear farewell addresses by Capt. Paul Crippen, home on furlough from Camp Bowie, Fort Worth, and A. W. Buckley and George W. Bolling of the local board.

A call is being made for men of special qualifications for service with the purchase and supply branch of the general staff at Washington. Only men who are classified in "class 1 A for limited service" will be permitted to enlist for this work. Stenographers, typists, stenographers with legal or real estate experience, draftsmen, mimeograph operators, clerks, adding machine operators, statisticians, accountants, and men experienced in textile industries are desired. Applications are to be received in Chicago.

Arnold Joerns, Chicago business man, now a captain in the air service, United States army, is spending a few days in the city on furlough.

Men in Khaki for Him. After visiting the fair grounds we caught a local train at 4:30 for Chicago. It crept along through the fat farming country, while McCormick held little conferences with mayors and sheriffs and other political leaders, who were riding home from the fair. There were, perhaps, half a dozen men in uniform on the train. One after the other they came along and sat down in the seat with Congressman McCormick. One of them was a tall, heavy man, with the bare of a captain on his shoulders.

"We're with you," I heard him say, "because you've always been with the soldier."

At 7 o'clock we crawled into Aurora. We were hungry. The station restaurant yielded ham sandwiches, apple pie, cheese, and doughnuts. We ate out of paper bags while the train crept on. "Don't let anybody tell you," said McCormick, "that taking an active part in a political campaign isn't the most interesting job in the world. The acquaintance, and the friends, and the enemies you make! Human nature is still the greatest study in the world."

Looking Ahead. Chicago loomed ahead. It raised columns of black smoke. The rich, fruity odor of the stockyards blew into the open windows.

"What a country this will be in twenty years! We have made tremendous progress in the last ten. If we only learn the lessons of the war and lead them right!"

I gathered, in no unpleasant sense, that Medill McCormick is what the h...rows call a "forward looking man."

Down at the edge of the river, where the old Blackhawk trail still runs, corn stalks to the hill and fully ten feet tall—a certain promise of seventy bushels to the acre. A clean, straight, cleared boy of perhaps 17 camp whistling down the hillside.

"What's the quickest way back to the house?" I asked him. "To Medill's house? Right up this path."

We were to start for Oregon at 10 o'clock the next morning. I was up early and went to look for something light and easy to read while waiting for breakfast. I was pawing around the books in the cases and on the shelves when my host came in.

"Here's two rows of trash," he pointed out. Most of them are detective stories. But you haven't time to

AUTO BUILDERS PERMITTED TO CLEAN UP WORK

War Board Cuts Output for Six Months; Makes No
Promise for 1919.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—An agreement whereby manufacturers of passenger automobiles will produce for the second half of this year no more than 25 per cent of the number of cars produced by them in the entire year of 1917 was reached today by Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the war industries board, and representatives of the automobile industry, who have been in consultation here for several days on curtailment problems.

Concerning production of passenger automobiles after Dec. 31, 1918, no agreement has yet been reached, and representatives of the war industries board were able to make no promises, but they again urged the manufacturers to make all possible haste in converting their plants so that they may be utilized for direct or indirect war work.

Will Be Allowed Some Materials.
To effect the limited production for the remainder of 1918, the war industries board will extend preference treatment to automobile manufacturers in the matter of obtaining the materials they require to "match up" the stocks now in hand, upon condition that the manufacturers subscribe to the pledges required by the priority division of the board.

There is a further condition that, in eventing up their stocks and completing the cars now in process of manufacture, plants that have an excess supply of steel shall turn over to other plants that can use it such steel as may be required to complete their work, providing such steel is not needed for war work.

Prepared by Special Committee.
The agreement reached was expressed in a letter addressed to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and signed by Alexander Legge, vice chairman; Edwin B. Parker, prior to commissioner; J. L. Repligie, director of steel supply; and George N. Twiss, commissioner of finished products, of the war industries board, who served as a committee with full powers to act for the board in the automobile negotiations.

U. S. ORGANIZES
BUSINESS MEN
AS WAR MACHINE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Systematic organization of business men throughout the country to assist the government in carrying out its war program has been practically completed through the war industries board, of which Bernard M. Baruch is chairman. For the purpose of getting the fullest results from the material and industrial resources of the nation the country was divided recently into twenty regions, and a regional adviser was appointed in each.

It is the function of these regional advisers to keep in touch with business men and business conditions, and to inform the government of the supply and industrial situation in their respective districts, in order that the government purchasing agents may know where to get the best results on orders to meet war requirements.

For the Chicago district D. E. Feit, 33 South La Salle street, is the regional adviser, and the following subregional advisers, representing the business interests, have been named: John W. O'Leary, Chicago; George D. Roper, Rockford; J. T. Jackson, Freeport; R. R. Pantieroy, Aurora; W. S. Pitzer, Joliet; E. M. Burr, Danville; E. Roth, La Salle; G. A. Stephens, Moline; Paul E. Harshel, Sr., Peoria; William M. Wood, Decatur; E. J. Walton, Sioux City; I. A. H. A. Searle, Council Bluffs; Carl Weeks, Des Moines; W. L. Cherry, Oskosh; J. C. McCarthy, Davenport; A. M. Turner, Gary, Ind.; Arthur D. Baker, South Bend; W. W. Ridenour, South Bend; E. H. Briggs, Fort Wayne, and J. W. Caswell, Huntington.

ROGER C. FLAILS GRAND DUKES OF CITY'S POLITICS

Receives Ovation When
He Demands War Be Given First Thought.

Twelve thousand Democrats—men and women—yesterday afternoon attended the Democratic county convention in the Coliseum.

Roger C. Sullivan, the regular county Democracy leader, voiced the "win the war" keynote of the gathering and precipitated the wildest cheering of the day when he was introduced by the convention chairman, County Treasurer Henry Stuckart. For more than six minutes the demonstration continued, the delegates waving flags and yelling while several hands played in vain to be heard above the uproar and din.

Mr. Sullivan's first mention of President Wilson sent the throng into another rafter-ringing chorus of cheering that lasted for minutes.

Then he turned his attention to the "Bolshevik and grand dukes" of politics, who are striving to gain personal objectives through the stirring up of class hatred.

Although the speaker mentioned names, he so deftly classified Mayor Thompson and Edward F. Dunne that the crowd gathered his meaning in an instant and again interrupted with extended cheering and yells of, "Give it to 'em," and "Right you are."

"There is no place in America either for grand dukes or Bolsheviks," he said. "There is no room for those who oppress the poor nor those who would rob the industrious of the fruits of their toil."

Doctrine of Discard.
"I am saying this because the present campaign has been seized upon by certain men as an opportunity for the arousing of class hatred in this country, for sowing dissension among our people, for an attempt to bring about in free America the conditions which resulted in the downfall of newly liberated Russia. The language of these men is the same, whether they are Republicans, Democrats, Socialists, I. W. W. agitators, or office seeking politicians."

"You have been asked to come here to ratify a county ticket which has been carefully selected by your managing committee. Some few disgruntled persons have seen fit to differ with the committee as to county candidates. Some of these men are actuated by personal selfishness. We have no time now for the profiteer, who is making money out of the war agony of a nation, nor have we time for the demagogue, who is grinding his political axe for his own purpose, either for office now, or for some time in the future."

"No man who preaches discord now is a good citizen. Any man can stand out and make some criticism of Gen. Pershing or President Wilson, but we have no time now for those harpies and trouble makers—away with them."

Delegates in Cheering Contests.
It was nearly 4 o'clock before the ward delegations—numbering in several instances, more than 1,000 men and women—were seated on the floor and galleries of the big hall and County Chairman James M. Dalley called the convention to order.

Competitive cheering between ward delegations, a number accompanied by bands, and the boosters of the county candidates was stopped with difficulty. Mr. Dalley introduced Mr. Stuckart as permanent chairman. William P. Freney was unanimously elected permanent secretary, and the convention was under way.

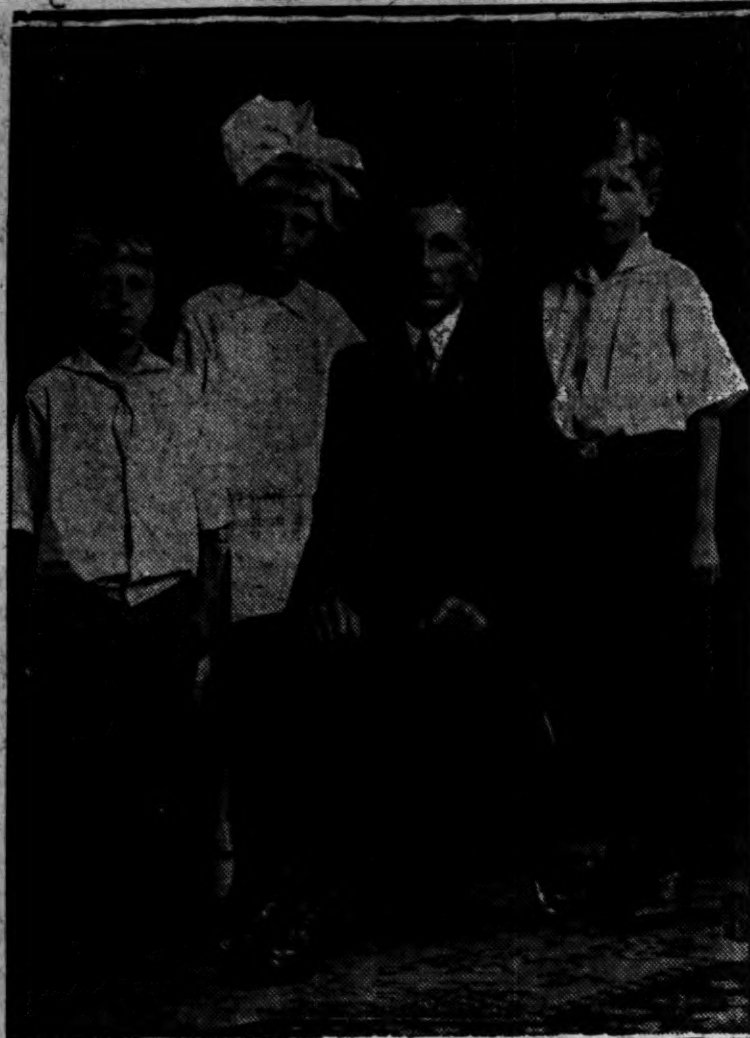

Resolutions Back Wilson.
Unrelenting war upon disloyalists at home was pledged to the soldiers at the front in the platform resolutions adopted by the convention. The resolutions follow in part:

"Our victories in France, which have thrilled every patriot, were made possible by the generous and unselfish offer of all allied leaders to yield to the supreme command of Marshal Foch."

"In the person of Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, are embodied the aims, the hopes, and purposes of the people of the entire world. Surely the people of the United States should be willing to follow the example of our allies in Europe, and, sinking all partisan and personal feelings, yield to this great statesman the same support that has been granted to the military leader, thereby assuring certain and triumphant victory.

"We call upon all loyal citizens of Illinois, irrespective of party, to stand by the president and uphold his hands. We endorse our senator, James Hamilton Lewis, and our representatives in congress who have stood by the president during the last two years, and we ask the voters of Illinois to reflect then, not because of their party but because the president needs them."

"We condemn as traitors to the government those officeholders and public men, of whatever party, who have shown a tendency to embarrass the government in its conduct of the war, who have sought to array class against class, and have seized upon a time of war as the time to promote their own selfish interests, regardless of the common good. We include in our denunciation all those who for political purposes have been belated and lukewarm in their patriotism."

MAYOR EXHORTS AGAINST CHEAP FOOD IN ENGLAND

Cites Figures to Show the British Pay Less than Americans.

Mayor Thompson last night in a speech at Forest park declared that if elected to the United States senate he would favor legislation to prevent the sale of American food products in a foreign market at a less price than in our own.

The mayor cited food price figures from England, which he said indicated that prices on American foodstuffs are lower there than in America.

Cites the Prices.
"In an official list of retail prices of foodstuffs in England, as filed by the British food controller for the month of June just past," said the mayor, "I select three articles from the head of the list which are distinctly American. These are the articles and the prices that the consumer in England pays for them after paying the freight for 3,000 miles: Bacon, best cut, 56 cents per pound; shank, 16 cents per pound; bread, four pound loaf, 18 cents; two pound loaf, 9 cents; one pound loaf, 5 cents; cheese, 32 cents per pound."

"I insist that Senator Lewis and Congressmen Foss and McCormick explain to the people of Illinois why it was that they failed to vote in congress to make it impossible to sell our American food in foreign markets at a less price than our own people have to pay for it here," he said.

Petition Trickery Charged.
Attorneys Phillip J. McKenna and Dr. J. Fryzalski, on behalf of the managing committee of the "allied" Democratic organization, will go before County Judge Scully or the board of election commissioners today to petition for a hearing on charges that two candidates for ballot of the Municipal court have filed faulty and illegal petitions and ask that their names be kept off the Democratic primary ballot.

The men under fire are Peter Bockstaller, who filed last on the ballot, and Frank A. Drab. It is charged the men's names were filed to help defeat George McGurn, the Hoynes-Dunne candidate.

G. O. P. to Entertain Women.

Women voters are to be special guests at two receptions to be held this week at Republican county headquarters, 22 South La Salle street, in honor of the county candidates of the Brundage faction for whom women may vote.

The gatherings are being arranged by Mrs. Fletcher Dobyns and Mrs. Mabel Gilmore Heinicke. The first reception will be today, from noon to 3 o'clock; Perkins B. Bass and Charles V. Barrett, candidates for members of the board of review, will be guests of honor. On Wednesday during the same hours the women will receive in honor of Willis G. Nance, William J. Healy, and Frank A. Vogler.

COLORED VOTE FOR MCCORMICK, LEADER FINDS

According to a public statement issued yesterday by Beauregard F. Moseley, one of the colored political leaders of the city, Chicago Negroes will oppose Mayor Thompson and support McNeill McCormick for the Republican nomination for United States senator. Mr. Moseley says that an investigation of the senatorial campaign situation by the members of his race has determined that one of these two men will be nominated and that Congressman Foss is only an outside contender.

The statement says in part: "The fact that the Negro's record from Bunker Hill to Carlisle, Mex., is one of intense loyalty will not permit him to warm up to or advocate the election or advancement of any man charged with disloyalty. His sons and brothers are fighting in the trenches of Europe to destroy kaiserism and I greatly mistake the temper and disposition of the Negro people at home if their devotion to the flag and country will not kill the ambitions of pro-Germans at the ballot box."

"The grand ovation given McNeill McCormick last week at the Olivet Baptist chautauqua by the 2,000 people who came out to hear him is proof positive that they are not being led astray and can be depended upon to put this loyalist 'over the top!'"

ATHALIE H. UNGER RAPIDS DICKINSON IN WAR AID ROW

Mrs. Athalie H. Unger, who was deposed some time ago as secretary of the One Hundred and Forty-ninth Field Artillery Relief society, has written an open letter to Jacob M. Dickinson, president of the society, in which she takes him severely to task. The letter was read at the weekly meeting yesterday of the One Hundred and Forty-ninth Field Artillery Mothers and Fathers' association, organized by the adherents of Mrs. Unger, following her removal from the original society.

The letter, in part, is as follows: "Jacob M. Dickinson, president First Illinois (One Hundred and Forty-ninth United States) Field Artillery War Relief."

"Dear Sir:
"So far as I know, I have been dishonorably discharged without a certificate of good moral character, from an association which I conceived and organized, for which I unwisely selected you to be president and to which I have devoted my exclusive time for more than a year."

"The only charges against me are that Mrs. Farwell, Mrs. Harginson and other members of the comforts committee 'could not work in harmony with me.' The absence of harmony was on their side, not mine."

"My son went to France and is still there on the fighting line.
"I am perfectly willing to take up with your auditors the statement of accounts at a time convenient to both of us, but am frank to state nothing would please me so much as to have you start a suit, which would give me an opportunity to make history of your despicable treatment of me. It would give some people a different idea of your southern chivalry."

TWO KILLED IN AMBULANCE.
Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 25.—Dr. B. F. Knight of Spring Creek, W. Va., and J. P. Caperton of Hatterburg, Miss., an ambulance driver, were killed at Nitro, near here, when a freight train backed into the ambulance, demolishing the car.

Keep Your Mouth Cool

If you would keep your body cool and comfortable this hot weather, keep your mouth cool. You can only keep your mouth cool by keeping it clean.

Kolynos is possibly best known in a popular way by that expression which springs involuntarily from one who uses it: "How clean my mouth feels!" And that sense of cleanliness is accompanied by an equal sense of coolness and refreshment.

After a walk on a hot day, after a shopping trip, after a dusty automobile ride, after the violent exercise of tennis or golf, or when the mouth is parched and dry from any cause, the use of Kolynos is a physical luxury.

In order to enjoy this luxury to the utmost, apply Kolynos on a dry brush until the mouth is full of the fragrant Kolynos cream. Then remove the brush, close the lips and force the cream back and forth between the teeth and over the tongue and throat, until the full value of its concentrated cleansing and refreshing qualities has been obtained. Then resume brushing and rinsing and the toilet of the mouth will be delightfully complete.

EXPECT DRAFT BILL TO BE L BY END OF W

tration Plans

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—The administration's draft bill authorizing the draft of men 18 and 45 years of age is the statute books by the end of the week, and plans of President Crowder to have the registration of about 500,000 men proceeding.

Complete victory in the administration yesterday showed a similar result is probable, although it is probable that some differences in the senate will be necessary.

Labor Amendment to the draft bill is expected to pass the senate. The amendment organized labor opposes provision for the classification of men into five days. None of the men to favor men below 20 is expected to pass the senate. Gen. Crowder has anticipated passage and practical medium of publicity in the states has been placed at the disposal of the government to insure registration.

Gen. Crowder's Big Task.
The campaign that has been out for this purpose will be the most intensive ever under the government, considering approximately 13,000,000 men with the 9,586,000 men registered in June 1917.

In addition to the news in the ordinary way through newspapers, the 55,000 post the 16,000 railroad stations in the country will be placarded, posters will be placed in all factories, street cars and legends, and posters will be placed in all subway and elevated stations. Between 6,000,000 and 8,000,000 leaflets will be distributed to delivery carriers, 11,000 routes.

MINERS PETITION GARFIELD TO FOR WAGE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—Appel, will be made Administrator Garfield tomorrow morning of the coal mine question. Despite Dr. Garfield's refusal of their verbal request for a hearing of the war, this time, the anthracite miners coal mine workers representatives to Washington favorable action. The petition presented to Dr. Garfield to the House of Representatives, United Mine Workers, who are accompanied by President Dempsey of the first Pennsylvania coal mining district.

Speaking to the miners yesterday, Dr. Garfield indicated that he did not care to discuss a question during the present time.

Preliminary reports of the output of the coal production for the week of Aug. 27 showed an output of 11,000,000 tons for the first week of the year. The output was not tons, which includes coal made into coke.

EXPECT DRAFT BILL TO BE LAW BY END OF WEEK

Smooth Sledding Looked For in Senate; Registration Plans.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.
Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—The administration's man power bill authorizing the draft of men between 18 and 45 years of age will be in the statute books by the end of this week, and plans of Provost Marshal Crowder to have the registration on or about Sept. 5 are proceeding on that assumption.

Complete victory in the house for the administration yesterday foreboded a similar result in the senate, although it is probable that a conference will be necessary on minor differences in the senate and house measures.

Labor Amendment to Pass.

It is expected that the senate will pass the Thomas amendment which suspended labor opposition providing that no given deferred classification for industrial reasons shall be subject to draft if they remain away from work for five days. Note of the amendment to favor men below 20 years old is expected to pass the senate.

Gen. Crowder has anticipated the passage and practically every medium of publicity in the United States has been placed at the disposal of the government to insure a 100 per cent registration.

Gen. Crowder's Big Task.

The campaign that has been mapped out for this purpose will probably be the most intensive ever undertaken by the government, considering that approximately 13,000,000 men, as compared with the 5,588,508 enrolled in the registration of June 5, 1917, are to be reached.

In addition to the news information, which will be conveyed to the public in the ordinary way through the daily newspapers, the 55,000 postoffices and the 14,000 railroad stations in the country are to be placarded, posters will go into all factories, street cars will carry billboards, and posters will be pasted on all subways and elevated stations. Between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 pamphlets also will be circulated by road free delivery carriers along their routes.

MINERS PETITION GARFIELD TODAY FOR WAGE RAISE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Appeal will be made to Fuel Administrator Garfield tomorrow for a raising of the coal miners' wage question. Despite Dr. Garfield's recent refusal of their verbal request for a consideration of the wage question at this time, the anthracite and bituminous coal mine workers have sent representatives to Washington to urge favorable action. The petition will be presented to Dr. Garfield tomorrow by Frank J. Hayes, president of the United Mine Workers, who will probably be accompanied by President John T. Murphy of the first Pennsylvania coal-mining district.

Speaking to the mine workers last Friday, Dr. Garfield indicated plainly that he did not care to go into the wage question during the period of the war.

Summary reports of bituminous coal production for the week ended Aug. 17 record an output of less than 11,000,000 tons for the first time since Jan. 21. The output was 11,910,000 tons, which includes lignite and oil shale into coke.

Young Women to Invade Loop and Tag for Their Benefit.

Misses—Margaret Clancy, Grace Shean, Madeline Weirich.

Belgium's babies will know their cries are heeded today when several hundred young women invade the city, chiefly in the loop, and tag for charity. Among those who will take part in the tagging exercises are Miss Margaret Clancy, Miss Grace Shean, and Miss Madeline Weirich. Yesterday they spent several hours tagging on the Municipal pier. Today they will be stationed in the La Salle railroad station.

ILLINOIS ASKED TO CUT ITS COAL NEED 20 PER CENT

In an effort to decrease by 20 per cent the amount of fuel used in Illinois in 1918 as against 1917, Joseph Harrington, administrative engineer for the United States fuel administration in Illinois, yesterday issued an appeal to all classes of consumers in the state to conserve fuel in every possible way. For home purposes Illinois last year used more coal than any other state, with the exception of Pennsylvania. Mr. Harrington points out in his plea for conservation. The amount was $1,755,000 tons. In the amount of coal used for purely domestic purposes, Illinois is the largest consumer, with 9,721,000 tons as compared with 4,900,000 tons in Ohio, the second largest consumer of this class.

The opportunity for patriotic service in fuel conservation, therefore, comes to Illinois in a large measure," declared Mr. Harrington, "and for the credit of the state Illinois must stand second to none in the amount of coal saved this year."

Crew of 31 Gets to Shore When Boat Goes on Reef

Watch Hill, R. I., Aug. 25.—The ship, laden steamer George Hudson ran onto a reef and sank in forty-one feet of water during a thick fog off here today. Capt. William D. Murray and his crew of thirty men reached shore in a boat.

ROOSEVELT VIEW ON SENATE RACES MAY COME TODAY

Expect Allusion to Illinois and Michigan Races at Springfield.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Something in the way of a public utterance from Col. Theodore Roosevelt with respect to the senatorial situations in Illinois and Michigan is expected tomorrow.

This seems to be forecast by men who have been in touch with the colonel during the few hours that he has been the official guest of Illinois, in anticipation of the centennial address that he is to deliver tomorrow at the state fair grounds.

Guests of Governor.

Col. Roosevelt came to Springfield this afternoon, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt. At the station they were received by Gov. and Mrs. Lowden and immediately went to the executive mansion, where they are to be the guests of the state executive until their departure Tuesday noon.

There is no doubt about it that the colonel and the governor started talking politics the minute the greetings were over with. Tonight the colonel had nothing to say by way of a public statement. That he is in rare form and in probably the classic physical condition in many years seemed evident.

Republicans Gather.

Republicans from all parts of the state are gathering in Springfield and showing the keenest interest in what is to be said and done tomorrow. "What will the colonel say?" is the question heard from every man of them.

Program for the Day.

At noon, at the St. Nicholas hotel, Col. and Mrs. Roosevelt and Gov. and Mrs. Lowden are to be the guests of the Illinois centennial commission at luncheon. Covers are to be laid for $50. Immediately thereafter, the official party starts for the fair grounds, and Col. Roosevelt will begin speaking about 3 o'clock. The Roosevelts will be the family guests of the Lowdens at dinner, and in the evening the party will witness "The Masque of Illinois," a pageant at the state fair grounds in which over 2,000 persons will participate.

Col. and Mrs. Roosevelt expect to depart for the east Tuesday at noon.

Drinks "Near Beer," Now Near Death in Hospital

Charles Friese, 55 years old, is near death in the Passavant hospital where he was taken yesterday from his room at 722 North La Salle street, suffering apparently from poisoning. Miss Minnie Schack of 1333 Vine street, who was with him, told the police that after drinking a bottle of "near beer" Friese had fallen to the floor. Upon her promise to appear at the inquest should Friese die she was allowed to go home.

YOUTHFUL ROBIN HOODS COME TO GRIEF, DERN IT!

Copper Fails to React to
Gats of Pair of "Baby
Bandits."

Baby banditry in Chicago ain't what it used to be. Watson. Ask George Kirkwood of 1562 Milwaukee avenue, and Kaleman Patakey of 1569 Hoyne avenue, two 18 year old highwaymen who are held at the Fillmore street police station. George and Kaleman told of their exploits and their preliminary conferences.

"Huh, what's the use of workin' for twelve bucks a week when we can go out with a couple of gats and make a hundred from men an hour?" queried Patakey of George. George opined there was logic in it. They got the gats, also masks and flashlights.

Under the Chicago and Northwest street tracks at Kinzie street and Kedzie avenue they started their career. The first victim reacted properly. He registered fear and gave up his cash, but it was only 25 cents.

"Keep your paltry cash," said Bandit Patakey, majestically. "It will never be said of us that we take the money of the poor."

"Say, what about this, Pat?" queried George. "You said we'd make a hundred bucks an hour. At this rate it will take us six weeks."

Patakey decided they were on the wrong stamping ground. They went over toward Garfield park. It was then 2 o'clock in the morning.

"Here you, where you going? Come here," demanded Patrolman Edward Reindeau. Out came one of Patakey's trusty gats. He now had both of them.

"Back up, you bill 'bull,'" he roared, "or I'll drill you."

The copper failed to react. He knocked the gat out of the bandit's hand and knocked the bandit down. George beat it. He was caught by Detective Sergeant Curtin and Roche, attracted by the sound of shooting as the policeman fired over George's head.

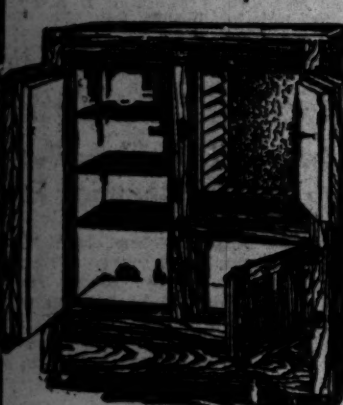

Comedy now came close to tragedy. Bandit Patakey drew his other revolver, surprising Patrolman Reindeau, and had jammed it into the patrolman's side when the policeman succeeded in turning his hand and wrestling it from him.

ONLY SIX DAYS MORE OF THE AUGUST SALES

After which prices will be raised on all stocks affected by the August Sale reductions.

Furs On most other articles of apparel, a woman's knowledge of merchandise is her reliable guide to their value. With Furs, it is of the utmost importance to judge not by appearance alone. Wearing quality and satisfaction in one's purchase depend very largely on the quality of the Fur; on the way it was cured; on the dyes of it. All of these essentials are considered by us when selections are made for our patrons. In August these reliable, satisfaction-giving Furs have their regular prices lowered considerably. Those we are offering this month were bought early, when the cost prices were lower, and offer even better than usual savings when one realizes what re-orders are to cost.

All Furs purchased now will be stored without charge in our Cold Dry Air Storage Vaults until wanted in the Autumn.

Yet for the next six days, all our stocks of Shoes, for every requirement and everybody, are lowered in price. Those who have not availed themselves of this opportunity for savings should provide their Footwear needs—now.

Men's Clothing One of the biggest opportunities in months to obtain substantial reductions on Suits and Overcoats remains during the closing week of this Sale. Suits that can be put on now and worn the year around are included in this event, offering very appreciable savings to every man. All hot weather Suits—such as Palm Beaches, Silks, Mohairs, Cool Cloths and Linens are included.

Third and Fourth Floors, The Store for Men.

Boys' Clothing This event affords opportunity to provide the boy with a school outfit at small cost. Every mother should take advantage of August Sale prices now, for but six days remain during which to purchase boys' clothes at their present markings.

There are "Junior" Norfolk Suits of good serge at $10 and $12; of wool mixtures, at $13.50 and $20. The little fellow just starting to kindergarten will be appropriately clothed in one of the wool Middy Suits, of practical weight mixtures for Autumn, at $8.75. The same style, in corduroy, also $8.75. Sizes 4 to 10. For the little boys of 3 to 10, who will wear Wash Suits, here are smart Middy styles of dark blue wash fabrics, made with regulation trimmings. Long or knee-length trousers, special, $5.50.

The Boys' Own Room, Juvenile Floor, the Fourth.

Frames & Framing Our workrooms are especially prepared to take care of all orders during the last week of this month at reduced prices, on regilding, repairing, restoring and cleaning of paintings and engravings, as well as on frames and framing.

Second Floor, Wabash Avenue.

It is well to remember that these August Sales mean an actual lowering of prices on all merchandise in the stocks mentioned on this page.

In this season when every patriotic person is interested in the sensible practice of thrift, such reductions on standard merchandise have tremendous appeal. Furs, Men's and Boys' Clothing, Shoes for every member of the family, are especially interesting for Autumn and Winter use, while the reductions on Furniture and other household furnishings provide great savings on articles which have an all-the-year-round utility.

After next Saturday, prices on this merchandise not only must be placed again at normal, but re-orders on such merchandise, costing more, will of necessity mean increased prices on most of these stocks. To make money serve to the utmost, it is well to make purchases of whatever may be required for future use, from this merchandise specially priced for August only.

Furniture The closing days of the August Sale of Furniture offer some of the best values of the year. There is little hope that such Furniture—handsome, ever appropriate, distinctive, appreciated—can be had at our prices for a long time to come. The stocks—largely from the sample lines of four leading manufacturers in America—have been replenished for the final week. Pieces for living, dining, and bedrooms, as well as sun parlors, are included in what, we believe, is the finest assortment ever shown in any semi-annual Sale we have ever held. Since there is—in most instances—only one piece of a kind, we suggest immediate investigation.

We emphasize the fact that this Furniture, considering its excellent quality, is not expensive.

Eighth and Ninth Floors.

Domestic Rugs War has caused a chaotic condition in the Rug industry. Wool has been commandeered by the Government; artisans have donned the khaki and blue, while the freight situation is very uncertain. Yet, in the face of these conditions, we are able to offer Domestic Rugs of excellent quality at the lowest prices of the season. Only through careful planning months ago can we quote such prices.

Room Sizes in Tapestry Brussels, Axminster, Velvet, and Wilton Rugs. Range of prices, $15 to $93.75.

Third Floor, Wabash Avenue.

Linoleums Quality, above everything else, is absolutely essential in Linoleums. Only those grades that have stood the tests of time—particularly service and sanitation—have found a place in our stocks. The assortment for the remainder of the month is generous, yet early selection while the Sale prices prevail is an advantage.

Dinnerware The Dinner Sets featured in this Sale, composed of the best English, French and Nippon Chinas, were contracted for from six months to a year ago. This makes exceptional prices possible. Rich incrustated border designs, coin gold bands and black and gold borders are offered in a large variety.

Range of Prices, each Set, $35 to $300.

Second Floor, Wabash Avenue.

Metal Beds Mattresses Those who have purchased merchandise from these Sections have profited by appreciable savings this month. Yet, despite the inroads on the stock, the assortment remains attractive. Reductions were made possible by our anticipation of present conditions months ago. Hair Mattresses, Felt Mattresses, Box Springs, Bed Pillows, Cottage Style Wood Beds and Brass Beds are included in this Sale.

Hair Mattresses, full size, $25 to $38.

Felt Mattresses, $12 to $18. Box Springs, $20 to $27.50.

SKIP-STOP CAR SYSTEM FINE FOR THOSE ON BOARD

But Motorman Gets Added Abuse from Persons Forgetting Order.

A gray haired woman dressed in black waved her umbrella frantically while three street cars passed her at Polk and State streets yesterday afternoon. She knew nothing of the new skip-stop system and did not understand the signals of one of the motormen who tried to direct her to a post a few doors down the street where the paper sign read, "Cars Stop Here."

Two little girls who accompanied her finally saw the sign and took "grandma," who was sputtering in wrath, to the right place. Two men came along and tried to stop several cars. Falling they resignedly took seats on the rush hour car until some motorman decided to stop at their corner. They were directed to the sign by a friendly stranger.

Works Well for Passengers.
The plan works well for those on board the cars. Trips are made more quickly.
An entire rearrangement of schedules will have to be made, according to John E. Wilde, vice president of the Chicago Surface Lines. The stops are made only at corners opposite houses bearing even numbers, except at dangerous crossings.

Saves Children; Gratifies Wish to Be Heroic
The motorman are used to being scolded and did not pay much attention to the increased vituperation. "Don't blame the motorman and don't blame the company," said Mr. Wilde. "The city council designated the streets at which the cars must stop."

The new plan is intended to save lives. The plan is intended to save lives.

For nearly sixty years "Tony" has waited for the opportunity to prove himself a hero—to offer his life that others might live. That was the situation yesterday morning at approximately 8:45 o'clock.

At 1451 "Tony" was a hero. But he lay unconscious with two children in his arms, while his enfeebled lungs were trying desperately to rid themselves of smoke that threatened to smother out his life.
It happened like this:
Tony was smoking a pipe on the rear porch of his home at 1135 Larabee street. Through the railing and across the yard he could see the two children of Dominick Scelletta playing together in the cottage behind his home. They were Dominick, aged 2, and Maria, aged 3. Their parents had gone to a nearby grocery store, leaving them alone.

Of a sudden "Tony" saw a tongue of flame lick its way up a lace curtain. He seemed but an instant until the Scelletta home was a mass of flames. "Tony" laid aside his pipe and hobbled with frenzied haste across the yard and plunged into the blazing building.
In a room, hidden under a bed, the Scellettas, children were found. Dragging them forth, Tony staggered to the cottage entrance, where he collapsed. Here Capt. Frank Doherty of fire patrol No. 1 and Capt. John Beckman of truck company No. 3 found him. He was resuscitated by a pulmonator. The children were unharmed.

Body of a Well Dressed Youth Taken from River

The body of a well-dressed man about 35 years old was recovered last night from the river at Twenty-second street and taken to the county morgue. Bridget Edward Hoff saw the body floating about fifty feet from the wharf. He notified the police.

The man is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighed 160 pounds. He was dressed in a dark blue suit, black oxford, and white socks. A signet ring with the initials "E. B." cuff buttons with the letter "D" engraved on them, a stickpin, and a watch were found upon the body.

Victim Dies in Auto of Driver Who Struck Him

Charles Burns, 55, of 5539 South May street, was fatally injured last night when struck by an automobile driven by Frank Downs, 2555 Wallace street. Downs started with Burns to the office of Dr. John L. Sweeney, 257 West Forty-seventh street, but the man died on the way.

Downs surrendered to the police, but was released upon his promise to be present at the inquest.

Woman Held for Offering Bad Checks; Tries to Die

Mrs. Emma Wittlieb of 3046 South Wabash avenue, said to have been an inmate of the Dunning asylum, was arrested yesterday after she is said to have attempted to pass a bogus check in the Lakeside hospital. She also is accused of passing bad checks in various other hospitals by applying for admittance as a patient. She was ordered to the Psychopathic hospital after she had made an attempt to poison herself in her cell.

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

WAR EXPOSITION TO SHOW RELIEF WORK IN BATTLE

The entire south end of the exhibition booth structure at the United States Government War exposition will be used by sixteen organizations doing war work at the front and at home, according to an announcement made yesterday at the exposition headquarters, tenth floor, Commonwealth Edison building.
The Red Cross exhibit will show how a first aid dressing station within range of enemy guns is operated. The Young Men's Christian association exhibit will be one of the organization's huts back of the lines. After each performance of the big battle scene soldiers will come in, en route to their rest billets, and be given recreation and assistance. The Knights of Columbus will have a replica of one of their huts. This organization serves coffee, chocolate, and tobacco free to everybody.
The Salvation Army will show one of their dugouts in action. How the boys over there get "coffee and—" will be a feature.
The Daughters of the British Empire have organized several tableaux in which pretty girls will participate. Circlegrams showing what is being done to train men for their work as soldiers and sailors will be the principal feature of the war recreation board.

The war savings committee will illustrate just what the price of a war savings stamp purchases for the prosecution of the war.

A graphic illustration of how 10 cents a day keeps a French child alive is shown by the committee for the fatherless children of France.

COP CLASHES WITH JACKIES

When Detective Sergeant Frank Zink of the Central station arrested two women and two jackies at Dearborn and Madison streets early yesterday morning a crowd in which are said to have been a number of jackies threatened him and during a scuffle that followed some person turned in a riot call, to which twelve policemen responded.
Zink said he stopped two women who were talking to two jackies and questioned them. When they told conflicting stories he arrested the four. Then, he said, when a crowd that gathered grew threatening he drew his revolver. Before the police reinforcements arrived Zink drove the crowd back and took his prisoners to the station.
The jackies were released and the women held for investigation. They gave the names of Doris Condon and May Hoffert, each 18 years old and both of Flint, Mich.

Charges Negro Beat Him with Club Without Cause

James Hennessy, known as "Jimmy the Joker," an out of town newspaper dealer with a stand at Madison and Clark streets, was assaulted last night in the comfort station in the city hall by George Johnson, 3167 Ellis avenue, the Negro porter employed there. Hennessy told the police the porter beat him with a club. Several men overpowered Johnson and held him until policemen arrived. Hennessy was taken to the Iroquois Memorial hospital suffering from several scalp wounds.

10,000 TO MARCH IN SCHUETTLE CORTEGE TODAY

Ten thousand persons will honor Herman F. Schuettle today by marching in the funeral cortege of the city's late chief of police. This estimate was made last night by Acting Chief John Alecek, who is in charge of the funeral arrangements. He believes 100,000 will line the curbs.
"The funeral will be the largest in the history of Chicago," he asserted, "not even excepting that of Fire Marshal John Horan, who with twenty-two of his firemen was killed in the stockyards fire of 1910."

The procession will move at 2 o'clock in Orchard street from St. Paul's church at Kemper place to Wrightwood avenue, west on Wrightwood to Racine avenue, north on Racine avenue to Diversey boulevard, and west on Diversey to Roschill cemetery.
The interior of the house at 3453 Bosworth avenue, where Chief Schuettle lived, was a mass of flowers yesterday. The walls of the large front room, where lay the body of Chicago's police chief, was banked from door to door.
All day long until late last night a stream of persons passed in and out of the Schuettle home. They came on foot, by street car, and in limousine. Some were rich, others were poor, but all had at one time or another come into contact with the big heart of the "big fellow" of the police force. They came to pay their respects to him in death.

CRAPS AND SUDS LIVEN BASEBALL GAME IN CICERO

Police Guard Front Door Faithfully; Many Suburb Lidlitters.

Cicero was wet territory yesterday. There was a baseball game in the park at Twelfth street and Cicero avenue, and the saloons across the way did a rushing business with the thirsty overflow.

In August J. Lauterbach's place the bartenders did not have time to wash glasses. There was a mass attack on the bar all afternoon. In the next room a big crap game was on. The front door was closed out of deference to two policemen who stood outside, but the path to the rear door was well marked. The same conditions prevailed in "The Belmont" and in Peter Amersbach's place. The hum of voices and the clink of money could be heard from the street.

Many Lift the Lid.
H. K. Grose, head of the Citizens' league, and one operative went out to Cicero, Lyons, Argo, and to the picnic groves of the district. They reported finding violations of the Sunday closing law in twenty-five or thirty places. They also obtained evidence for the federal authorities on the sale of liquor to soldiers. Grose and his companion were taken into custody in Cicero by a uniformed policeman.
"This officer was intoxicated," said Grose. "He was advised not to arrest us and when he got us to the station the desk sergeant told him to take us back and let us go. He did so."

Tab the Weary Ones.
While the gambling and liquor selling was in progress in Cicero two policemen were busy on the street preventing fatigued men from sitting on the curb and blocking the traffic. They also interviewed a lame beggar who was under shrewd suspicion of the housewives of the neighborhood as an impostor.
"He walked straight as you do after he got around the corner," said one woman.
The police ordered the beggar out and tapped the weary ones on the shoulder.
In the meantime the crowds moved in one direction, passing rubbish heaps and children playing in the alley, toward the noisy bars.

FACING MURDER TRIAL, 'RED NELL' IS REMORSEFUL

Helen ("Red Nell") McCarthy, who goes on trial today for the murder of Frank Berger last March, spent yesterday in the county jail, sad and nervous.
"I was born with a silver spoon in my mouth, but that is a curse instead of a blessing," she said.
"I had every chance in the world, but I did not take it. I studied music in Europe and was given what I asked for. I am glad my parents are not alive now to know of my disgrace."
Helen McCarthy, who twenty-four years ago was known as the beauty of the old west side, is charged with killing Berger, a teamster, by stabbing him in the abdomen with a butcher knife during a quarrel that followed drinking in her room.

TWO TAKEN IN SHOOTING ADMIT JEWEL ROBBERY

Michael Wopp, alias "Mickey the Wolf" and "Jim Bolton," members of a gang of safebreakers and robbers, confessed yesterday to the robbery of the Stinson & Lowe jewelry store. These two and Sam Taglia, Max Brenner, and Joseph Hoffman, all taken after a shooting affray on Saturday, were identified by witnesses. Bolton first escaped over the roofs with a year old baby in his arms.
Wopp told Lieut. Hughes and Chief Mooney of the detective bureau that he and John Brozak and Tom Naya, now a Great Lakes sailor, robbed the jewelry store of Joseph Sikka of 2829 Archer avenue, on Jan. 12, taking $1,000 in cash and $2,000 in diamonds.

CANOEIST DROWNS Young Woman Who Loses Life in View of Thousands of Bathers at North Side Beach.

THOUSANDS SEE GIRL DROWNED ON NORTH SHORE

Miss Dorothy Krusing of 920 Windor avenue, alone in a canoe while her young man companion was swimming a hundred yards away, was drowned yesterday in sight of thousands of bathers.
The mishap occurred near the Lawrence avenue intake, a quarter of a mile off shore. The young woman had gone in the canoe with her escort, who, upon getting beyond the danger ropes, left her to swim about. Miss Krusing was seen to topple out of the craft into the water.

Known as Swimmer.
She was known as a sturdy swimmer, but inasmuch as she made no strokes it is thought she had fainted. Her companion swam to the spot and made an effort to save her, but failed. In a short while hundreds of canoes were searching the spot and many swimmers were diving. After an hour the body was recovered by grappling hooks.

Miss Krusing lived with her mother, Mrs. Ellen Krusing, a brother, Joseph, is in France in the Seventy-seventh company, Sixth machine gun battalion, marines.

Youth Is Drowned.
John Eckberg, 15 years old, 2103 Lake street, Evanston, was drowned in the lake off Kedzie street, in Evanston. He was a belloboy at the Evanston hotel.
Rocking their canoe near Clarendon beach yesterday nearly caused the deaths of Raymond Tenk, 17 years old, 3255 South Oakley avenue; Frank Lopez, 19, 4938 Sheridan road, and Arthur Losander, 17, also of 4938 Sheridan road. The canoe tipped over. Lopez, the only member of the party who could swim, helped to hold his companions up until life guards came. Losander was unconscious and the guards worked over him for nearly an hour before they revived him.

Saved by Brother.
John Pulcinne of 1245 North Clark street was swimming off the Oak street beach yesterday when he became pan-

Rock Boat Rescued.
Three unidentified men, who were in a row boat with two others off the Canary Cote beach at Wilmette, were rescued from drowning by C. A. Hartig, lifeguard, known along the beach as "Dingie." Two of the men were rocking the boat when it tipped over. Two swam to shore and Hartig rescued two others. He went back for the third, who had gone down, and dragged him from the bottom of the lake. The men left without giving their names. It was Hartig's thirty-ninth rescue.

J. H. Ostrander Suffers Broken Collar Bone in Fall

J. H. Ostrander, widely known as an optician and retractor, suffered a fractured collar bone yesterday when a horse on which he was riding stumbled. The accident occurred two miles west of the Ridge Country club, near Beverly Hills. Mr. Ostrander has an office at 419 South Michigan avenue.

SOLID SIX SEEMS TO HAVE DROPPED SCHOOL CENSUS

Annual Report Is Filed Without Enumeration for 1918.

Mayor Thompson's "solid six" board of education made a move, disclosed yesterday, which may mean they have given up hope of taking a 1918 school census at a cost to the taxpayers of $60,000.
County Superintendent of Schools Edward J. Tobin announced that the board had filed with him its annual report, long overdue, and in it had included the 1918 census figures. Instead of 1918 enumeration data as had been planned. It was stated in some quarters that the board has placed itself in a position where it cannot successfully win its legal fight to take a census.

July 15 Legal Limit.
The law provides that the board's report shall be sent to the county official not later than July 15. The board announced it would make the report when it had taken the 1918 census to include with its other data and that it was not necessary to take cognizance of the statutory time limit.

Mr. Tobin said the Chicago board's report contained a notation from the board's attorney stating that the census figures in the data were for the year 1916, because the question of taking a census this year is now in litigation.
"I got the report on Saturday," Mr. Tobin said, "after I had been instructed by Mr. Berger to go to the Chicago board and get what data I could for my own report, which had been held up because of the failure of the board to make its return. I shall immediately prepare my report to go to Springfield."

Sees Confession of Defeat.
F. S. Munro, the attorney who has been representing Harry Scott, a taxpayer who brought injunction proceedings to stop what he termed a useless and illegal waste in taking a 1918 census, said last night that the board's action in filing the report was a confession that its stand was illegal.

"The two chief points that the defense stood on," said Mr. Munro, "was that the taking of the 1918 census was necessary for the annual report to be filed with the county superintendent and that the census figures were needed as a basis for the state auditor to use in calculating the amount of state school funds to be allotted to each county."
"By the filing of the report now with the county superintendent the board admits it didn't have to have the 1918 figures. The other contention was knocked out by State Auditor Russell when he announced last Friday that the county allotments of the state fund were based upon the federal census figures instead of the board's enumeration."

Draw Salaries, Do No Work.
Assistant State's Attorney Berger has possession of further facts in connection with the use of the census taking positions for political purposes. He has evidence that political followers of the city administration heads held census places and drew salaries last year when no census was taken. It was declared by a witness examined by Mr. Berger that 1918 census working places were used for the purpose of year for excuses to get a number of politicians on the school system payroll.

During the week Mr. Berger will delve into other phases of alleged school board irregularities, including the collection of a campaign slush fund among the civil service engineering force and the sale of disused school text books.

"DISAPPEARING FRANCES" IS GONE FOR THIRD TIME

Frances Parker, aged 15, of 4654 Cottage Grove avenue, is lost again. The fact to keep an appointment with her aunt and guardian, Mrs. May Parker, at a loop department store Saturday, and has not been home since. While her aunt was waiting her pocketbook was found in the slush fund. It is the third time that Frances, who is employed at an optical establishment at 10 South Wabash avenue, has been lost. The first time, when she attended a girls' academy at One Hundred and Nineteenth street and Michigan avenue, was in October, 1917. She was lured away by Michael Manugin, a janitor, who was sent to the bridewell in connection with the case. She left the school because the other girls jeered her.

In January, while attending the Kosminski school, she disappeared and was found the next day after she had spent the night taking in the loop movies.

BIFF, BLOOIE! SCALPER STOPS THEATRICAL FIST

Frank Richards stopped his ticket brokerage business in front of the Court theater yesterday, after he stopped one of the fists of U. J. Herrmann, manager of the theater, when he sought first to argue with Mr. Herrmann and then to kick him.
Mr. Herrmann, who carries what is commonly termed "a mean wallop," heard that a patron of his theater had been shortchanged by a street scalper. He found Richards, a tailor's cutter, vending tickets before his theater.
Then the argument, Richards' arrest, a trip to the Clark street station, at other fight, Herrmann victorious, cell for Richards.

FASHIONS
BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—Kling Midea, who got tired of seeing everything turn to gold under his teeth, may have his successors in gold prostitution. Not only gold, but silver and all kinds of tridacene of dress, are found in the latest evening dresses. It would seem that those who do wear evening clothes are determined to make up for those who don't.

Witness this summer model from Agnes. A whole parade in itself is this glittering frock with silver cloth bodice, train, and underskirt, royal blue paillette of the skirt and flowing sleeves of net of the same shade of blue. The side sections and upper part of the bodice, as well as that portion of the skirt, revealed by a brief vacation of the paillette, are filled in with the net. A large flower embroidered in silver and blue upon the silver cloth bodice and the equally silver cloth train are the climatic touches. And, like so many of the latest evening dresses, this one draws in at the ankles.

She Wasn't Popular and Found Out Why

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.
WAS IT YOU?

"I used to be the unhappy Katia," the girl laughed. "Every night I went home with a group and nursed it so well that I brought it back healthier and more vigorous every morning. I guess if it weren't that I was such a good worker and never missed a day I would have been given my walking papers long ago."

"As you may imagine, I wasn't very popular, either at home or at work. Found out, but not to my entire satisfaction, that 'Grumble and you're left alone.' But it took a twitch in my heart to acquaint my head of what it might have learned to my profit a year or two before."

"A man naturally caused the twitch. He was our star salesman. At first I was the favorite. Then a little fluff, ruff, who could say hello a hundred times a day without ever losing her disposition, who could help on fluff jobs and offer a smile and a cheery word whenever information was asked of her—well, she won! And she deserved it! Though I wouldn't have admitted it then. But the kind friend in everybody's acquaintance who hurries to repeat the things that are good for us to hear but we'd rather not inform us I lost out through my perpetual grumbling."

"The fact was an underlying rebellion at my work! I couldn't get away from it, though, as I had dependents, and it brought me more money than any other thing I could do. 'The trouble with you,' said an uncle to whom I went out of your work as your employer's and you are being made to do it."

"I thought that over and adapted his rebuke to my personal advantage. With the result I never grumbled a grumble any more, and I got a raise and a devoted beau, who thinks I have the 'sweetest disposition.'"

Old Time Printers' Outing.

The thirty-third annual outing of the Old Time Printers' association will be held Wednesday at the Great Lakes Naval station. A special train will leave the Northwestern station at noon. Luncheon will be served free and Capt. William A. Moffett has promised the services of 100 musicians. Lieut. Col. R. R. McCormick, an honorary member of the association, who recently returned from the front, will address the Old Timers.

When We Come Back From the Theatre

Jim's job has not quite reached the point yet where he can afford after-theatre suppers, and the other night, when we struck our little house, I just gave him a surprise. Before we went out I had made some cheese sandwiches, with both the bread and the cheese cut thin. They would have been good, anyway, because I had flavoured the cheese with a few drops of oil of cloves, and you know what that means. It isn't a Worcestershire, you know—I call it my "miracle worker." But, instead of serving them cold, I heated them under the hot flame, turning them often, so that the cheese melted and ran down into the bread. Jim had four, and would have eaten more, but he is still a polite husband. There is something about a husband who makes a kitchen a place for high magic—or so Jim says.

THE SUCCESSFUL HOME GARDEN

BY J. F. H. HEIDE.
NO. 173.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Q.—Our sweet corn is stunted in spots, while in places it did fairly well. We used chemical fertilizers at plantings. How do you explain it? A.—Would you explain it? 2. Would oats for chicken feed thrive in rather sandy soil? 3. What are the best grains to sow for chicken feed and what is the best time to sow each in the vicinity of Chicago? 4. We have followed your directions in our war garden and wish to fertilize with manure, but have been paying $3 a load, which does not go far. 5. Could we get it free for the hauling at the stock yards, or can we get it elsewhere at less than we paid? B. H.

A.—1. Due to uneven distribution of fertilizer and moisture. 2. Yes, on almost any soil with abundant moisture and good tilth. If well manured for the previous crop, no further manuring is required for oats; otherwise use about half as much as for corn. 3. Following is the order of preference as established by the poultry itself when given free choice: Wheat (sown during April, corn (May 1-15), oats (April 1-15), peas (April), barley (April 1-15), buckwheat (June 10-20), and rye (April 15-May 15). Provide at least some variety in the rations. For bulk the chickens must also have wheat bran, clover hay during April, alfalfa meal (April 5-10) or the like. 4. At that price it is still the cheapest fertilizer and provides organic matter to improve the physical qualities of the soil, while chemical fertilizers without organic matter ultimately ruin the topsoil. 5. No; it can be obtained there in carload lots only. The charge is nominal, merely to cover loading, to which freight and switch charges must be added. A sixty-ton load will manure two acres the first year and four acres the second. Let some enterprising gardener in each community organize the gardeners of the vicinity to share a car of manure and perhaps even to buy jointly such costly equipment as spraying outfit, wheeled cultivator, seeder, lawn mower, roller, etc. It would be a cheap way to have the plowing done.

Six Fine Community Gardens in S. Chicago

When workers started the South Chicago gardens they found all sorts of difficulties. A systematic survey of the district was made. A "discovery" campaign followed. Then fertilizer, plowing and tools were furnished at cost. Families with no money at all were "staked out."

The result is six fine, big, flourishing community gardens with a total acreage of sixty acres, and with some entire streets lined, block after block, with back yard gardens, each one touching its neighbor.

Two hundred Boy Scouts guard the community gardens night and day, sleeping on the premises in Y. M. C. A. bunks. Thus have they solved the question of vandalism in South Chicago.

Miss Stella Rowley, director of the Parker Practice school gardens, writes: "The children whose names I am sending have done most faithful work. Our plot of ground is 200 feet square. These children have sprinkled the garden and thereby saved the tomato plants and beets. They have picked and hulled 200 pounds of beans. They have sold over 100 pounds, also $4 worth of beets, and are caring for a day tomato plants which are doing beautifully. They have met me at the garden every day this month and worked faithfully."

They are Charles and Albert Smith, Russell Wilson, Mildred Bryant, and Eva Wall. All of these attend the Parker Practice school.

Rehabilitation Work.

Rehabilitation work for returned soldiers crippled by the war will be demonstrated at the exhibition of the Red Cross teaching center, which starts in the war service department of Marshall Field & Co. tomorrow.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.
Cooked Creams with Strups.

Almost every one who has made a strup, whether of plain sugar, say for poaching pears, or a heavy chocolate strup, knows what a difference a little vanilla makes. If we keep this in mind in cooking with corn strup, especially in mixtures of the custard order, perhaps it will help us to dispense with even a bit of sugar flavor, or perhaps more correctly, sugar seasoning.

Cooked creams and particularly soft custards, which are simply the least thick of the cooked creams, can well be made without sugar, and then the soft custard may be used as a sauce in such a way as to replace sugar. It may in fact be used in all the accustomed ways, such as over cakes, blanc manges, fruit, puddings, steamed rice, and so forth.

With an extra tablespoon of thickening or additional egg yolks, it becomes a thick cream, which may be used as a filling for cakes. The cream may be added nuts and candied fruit. To the cook who will here is a way of making her favorite dishes without sugar, for the custards are favorite dishes in thousands of homes, and a cooked cream is one of the custards.

There is no more convenient way of using up egg yolks than by combining them with a little milk and sweetening, and then a little flavor. More than one flavor might be used, such as a little vanilla and a grating or two of nutmeg. Perhaps it is even easier to work at the problem "to taste," when we are using something not so sweet as pure granulated sugar than with it.

Suppose then we take two egg yolks, one cup of milk, two tablespoons of corn strup or more if we choose, and thickening according to our purpose. Corn starch or flour may be used and perhaps for the cup of milk two level tablespoons of thickening will be good, although for a filling cream this will probably not be sufficient.

For all creams and sauces it is highly important for the sake of wholesomeness that any starch thickening be sufficiently cooked. Therefore we may put this mixture together by mixing the thickening with the strup, adding the milk, and then cooking with stirring until the whole is thick. Then let it stand at a cooking temperature for ten minutes, stirring once in a while. Finally add the beaten egg yolks and cook for about a minute and then in taking the cream from the fire add a generous half teaspoon of vanilla.

If people cannot accustom themselves to cream a little less sweet than of old, which they can when they adjust their minds to the business, let them use just one teaspoon of sugar with a serving, sprinkling it around judiciously. The cooked creams and soft custards in cafeterias have not been sweeter than a cream like the above for some years. I assure you, by a few samples I have had.

Weds in the Church She Was Named For

Miss Grace Nonnie Martin, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. R. S. Martin, 2423 Pierce avenue, and Louis H. Riebe of Chicago were married in Grace Methodist Episcopal church Saturday night by the father of the bride.

The bride was born in the parsonage of Grace church during her father's pastorate there, and was named "Grace" for the church in which she was married.

The bridesmaids were Misses Jessie Kilcoyne, Ethel Brown, and Frances Clemm, and the matron of honor was Mrs. Edna Martin Karg, sister of the bride.

The best man was George Benfer and the ushers Seaman Albert Theophilus and Private Chris Nielsen. The bride is worthy matron of Alice chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and the father is president of Chicago's Native Sons and Daughters' association.

IRENE CASTLE

Who Has Boyish Grace and Girlish Charm.

"THE GIRL FROM BOHEMIA."
Produced by Faisl
Alice Page.....Irene Castle

BY MABEL McELLIOTT.

Mrs. Castle is a graceful and lovely figure in this picture. She has an opportunity to demonstrate how well she swims, and how nicely, as all the world knows, she dances. You will like her, undoubtedly.

I am unable to give you the names of the other people in the cast, because the producing company hadn't them and they were not shown on the screen. But I'm quite sure Canton Leigh is played by the man who was the misunderstood brother in "The Boat" here last year. His name, I think, was Edmund Lowe. And he's an extremely impetuous young man. He seems always to be bounding into the scene.

As for the story itself, it's rather an interesting one, though a trifle drawn out. Alice Page is a dweller in the Bohemia of Greenwich village, and it's a very wild Bohemia, believe us. There are gay parties and long haired people with tortoise rimmed spectacles and a trained monkey who does uncanny things with a powder puff. From this highly hilarious atmosphere Alice, who prefers to be called Neilsa, is removed to the home of an elderly southern relative. Naturally she finds small town life dull, and proceeds to shock the natives with her clothes and cigarettes, and manner of entertainment. I must say she displayed wretched taste in preferring her futuristic pants to the altogether charming things in her aunt's home.

There's a strike in it, which is a bore, and there are bricks thrown, which gives the honest young whipper a chance to wear a bandage round his head—a chance no self-respecting hero should neglect.

The woman who plays the eager old aunt so understandingly is to be commended, and I am sorry I do not know her name.

All in all, I liked the picture. Mrs. Castle has charm enough to outweigh even a strike.

To Everybody.

Women in Wartime

BY LUCY CALHOUN.

Members of Le Cercle Francaise, a woman's organization formed to uphold the art and traditions of France, are congratulating themselves these days upon a little piece of conservation work which truly bears out the French tradition of thrift. When the war came these women, as indeed those of every other organization, plunged into war relief work and began the manufacture of hospital supplies and refuge garments. They joined forces with the workers at the shop of the American fund for French wounded in the Garland building, and while making up all the new material they were allowed they began to think thriftily of what old material could be saved and used again. Architects' tracing linen, they discovered, was being used again and could easily be reclaimed from the waste heap. They began asking for it and have now a pile of 250 neatly made handkerchiefs manufactured from this old linen.

Bright Sayings of the Children

George received a most wonderful tin soldier for his birthday present. It moved its arms up and down, holding a gun, and walked about when wound up with a key. George was very sad with his toy, and at last little 7 year old Dean, his neighbor, exclaimed in disgusted tones, "I don't want your old soldier that can only move when wound up. I've got a real meat soldier in my family."

When Roy was a small boy he was a great favorite among a few of the older men, and one of them was always asking his name or how old he was every time he talked to him. One day when Roy was not in a good humor, this man began to ask him how old he was, and Roy said: "Say, you dot the best forgetter of any one I ever saw."

In the Lake, ever changing, is Beauty herself, as nearly visible to mortal eyes as she may ever be. The water, beyond the flowers, is green, always a different green. And at length the whole is astir and the sun catches it and Lake Louise is in web of laughter, the opal distillation of all the buds of all the Spring.

Flat Rate Charging Hopelessly Wrong

THE City of Chicago, in 1907, appointed Walter F. Burgess, engineer and telephone expert, to study and report on the question of telephone service and rates. With respect to flat versus measured rates for telephone service, Mr. Burgess, reporting to the City Council, said:

"The ordinary method of charging for telephone service, by means of a flat rate, is hopelessly wrong. This opinion is endorsed by all of the telephone engineers in the large cities of Europe."

Miss Helen Peck

Invitations have been issued to the wedding of Miss Helen Peck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Watkins of Evanston, to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Williams of Evanston, which will take place on Sept. 10 at Belmont court, the residence of Miss Peck's parents.

Mr. Williams, who is at the Evansville school at Pelham Bay, will receive his commission before the wedding.

There is to be an important reception at which a great number of guests will be present. The dress of the bride will be of the latest fashion, and the groom will be in the latest suit.

Mr. Mitchell is not apologetic for his part, though humble he has aspirations, though lowly employed by day he spends his evenings advantageously. Through the kind offices of a servant in the Knickerbocker club he is permitted to visit the ways of clubs and club men from a lattice screen in the billiard room. He copies gestures and manners, modes and inflections of speech. He reads the social news, he knows those who "count" and those who don't, who is entertaining and who is invited.

Further, he is fortuitously aided in his dream to "do the things Napoleon left undone" by the presence in the tailor shop of a manuscript of a book on economics, the work of a theorist who has the personality of a Bolshevik. Mr. Mitchell devours the book and learns long passages by heart.

A Tailor-Made Man, "an Occasion We've Long Anticipated"

BY BURTON RASCOE.

If one of Mr. Grant Mitchell's recent observations in "A Tailor-Made Man" may be utilized as the heading of this notice, I crib again from him. Voila! For it is joyous comedy, light, airy, irresponsible, and we at Cohen's Grand last night liked it. There are no tiring moments in the play, no violent violation of the credible, no artificial comedy effects, just a happy evening.

Mr. Mitchell is revealed in the first act as a presser of pants in a tailoring establishment. You wonder early why all he has to say sounds like a speech, why he employs "can't" instead of "can't," why he interposes his conversation with correctly pronounced French, and why his gestures are those of gentility, or at least of those who are invited.

It gradually becomes clear that Mr. Mitchell is not apologetic for his part, though humble he has aspirations, though lowly employed by day he spends his evenings advantageously. Through the kind offices of a servant in the Knickerbocker club he is permitted to visit the ways of clubs and club men from a lattice screen in the billiard room. He copies gestures and manners, modes and inflections of speech. He reads the social news, he knows those who "count" and those who don't, who is entertaining and who is invited.

Further, he is fortuitously aided in his dream to "do the things Napoleon left undone" by the presence in the tailor shop of a manuscript of a book on economics, the work of a theorist who has the personality of a Bolshevik. Mr. Mitchell devours the book and learns long passages by heart.

There is to be an important reception at which a great number of guests will be present. The dress of the bride will be of the latest fashion, and the groom will be in the latest suit.

Mr. Mitchell is not apologetic for his part, though humble he has aspirations, though lowly employed by day he spends his evenings advantageously. ## MISS BRASLAW MAKES GOOD AS CARMEN

BY FREDERICK DONAGHEY.

Sophie Braslaw on Saturday night got her opportunity as Carmen, and made capital use of it, wholly justifying her desire for this great role, and putting herself, maybe, in leadership of the long, long trail of Carmens who wind their way to the stage-door of the Metropolitan in hopeful expectation of the night when Farrar doesn't show up. It is too bad, for her sake and for Ravina's, that the revival was made so late in the season as not easily to permit of at least one repetition out of conflict with the assignments of the ensembles for the final performances.

Most of the operas for which Americans are appetent provide the contrast with minor occasions in which identity may be established; the public thinks opera in the terms of Caruso; of Musio and Muratore. Schumann-Heink is of the rare phenomena in musical drama; and four in five contraltos, after a year or two, junk the voice seeking to qualify in treble. And so many of the popular Carmens have been sopranos that the Braslaw set don't get a chance in the part while young enough to be persuasive.

This one employed her summer night chance with midseason zest, and sent across a clear, definite, credible characterization which was both good drama and good music. She sang well, though faintly; and she was in her attack on the part, stage-wise and square. Miss Braslaw lacked, in Saturday's venture, the advantage of the first act; the version started with the other good things marked the performance. Miss Mason's exquisite singing of Micaela's third act aria, for one; nobody has done better by this lovely bit of Bizet; and my memories of the role include Melba when she meant something. Mr. Rothler restored the Paris tradition of Escamillo as a basso-contralto, prima donna's beloved bolero for the torador, and boomed his way through it to an encore despite a disaster of memory. He is, I guess, fine in the part on nights when he is calm. Mr. Kingston contributed good and bad singing and a supply of Class A acting as Don José; Ruth Miller made her "bit" as Frasquita sound well; and the others, while so-so, combined under Mr. Hageman into a performance that had snap, movement, and life.

A concert tonight, "La Bohème," with Miss Musio and her associates of some weeks ago, will be sung again tomorrow night.

With it to be, though special mention might be made of Miss Minna Gale Haynes as the millionaire's wife, Mr. Frank Burbeck as the financier, and Miss Gladys Gilbert as the tailor's daughter. Mr. Barlowe Borland obtains a little in his endeavor to be funny; Mr. J. Emmett Driscoll emotes beyond the necessity of his part, and Mr. Howard Johnson has been ill-advised in introducing an objectionable characterization in an otherwise clean comedy.

TREASURY URGES ANTICIPATION OF TAX PAYMENTS

Banks Are Asked to Aid in the Sale of Certificates.

BY GLENN GRISWOLD.

The banks of the seventh federal reserve district are being asked by the treasury department and the federal reserve bank of Chicago to use every possible means to popularize the tax anticipation certificates now being offered. They are certificates acceptable in payment of income and excess profits taxes due June 15, 1919, or before. They bear interest at the rate of 4 per cent.

Every person who expects that he may be asked to pay $500 or more in federal taxes next year owes it to the government to pay his taxes in advance by the purchase of certificates. Of course, the same rule applies to corporations.

Add to Strain on Banks.

There are two vital reasons why it is essential that the certificates be purchased. By failing to buy certificates and waiting until June 15 to make payment in cash, which it may then be necessary to borrow, taxpayers add to the strain on the banking structure in settling huge sums of money in a short time. The application of certificates to the payment spreads the strain over a long period of time and avoids strain.

The second reason is that Secretary McAdoo has determined upon certain definite sums which must be raised in stated periods during the year. His counts of the sale of tax certificates as an important source of revenue.

Must Meet Loss.

If the sale is a partial failure, the loss by virtue of it must be made up by the sale of additional bond anticipation certificates. This is bad finance for the reason that tax anticipation certificates are distributed to individuals and corporations and paid for, while bond anticipation certificates are held by banks and add to the war burden they must carry. Some know now what the tax rate will be next year, nor the total that will be raised, but it is a safe estimate that at least three billions of tax anticipation certificates must be sold to relieve the banks of stress at payment date. Of this amount the proportion of the Chicago reserve district would be $430,000,000. The fact that this amount is about 10 per cent of the banking resources of the entire district best measures the task.

Want Pay in Advance.

Selling $430,000,000 tax certificates in this district between now and next June can only be accomplished if the individual as well as the corporation pays taxes in advance.

The certificates bear only 4 per cent interest. It will appear to many that they can invest their money at a better rate and save it against next June's demands. Aside from the fact that this is not the best method of patriotism, it is not the safest investment project. These certificates and nothing else will be accepted in advance of the payment of a few points in the security bought may ruin all return calculations. Even the purchase of Liberty bonds against tax payment might prove an expensive experiment as compared with the taking of 4 per cent certificates. The new 4 1/2 per cent bond is now selling to yield nearly 5 per cent. The discount on them is now 5 per cent, and such a discount places them with the investment return on a short term document.

The Trust Agreement will contain a Sinking Fund provision for the retirement of $200,000 Notes on August 15, 1920, $300,000 on August 15, 1921, and $400,000 on August 15, 1922, by purchase in the open market and/or by call by lot at par. All Notes so redeemed shall be cancelled.

The operation of this Sinking Fund provides for the retirement prior to maturity of 45% of the issue.

Both Gross and Net Earnings have shown substantial growth, the former increasing from $2,711,071 in the calendar year 1910 to $7,637,721 in the twelve months ended June 30, 1918, in which period Net Earnings increased from $1,289,295 to $3,255,498. Recent increases in rates, justified by increased costs of operation, will still further improve the earning position of the Company.

The development of the territory served by the Company has resulted in a greatly increased demand for electric power, and to supply this demand the Company has purchased a few 25,000 K. W. turbine. The proceeds of this issue, together with other funds, will provide for improvements and increased facilities, including this new turbine which it is estimated will add over $400,000 to the Net Earnings of the Company in its first year of operation.

Junior to these $2,000,000 Convertible 7% Notes, there are outstanding $14,765,200 7% Preferred Stock and $6,170,000 Common Stock.
